13 Miners Die In 2nd Straight Mine Disaster

Summersville, W. Va.
Site of Explosion;
4 Workers Escape

SUMMERVILLE, W. Va. (AP) —Rescuers brought out the last of 13 bodies from the blast-shattered workings of a southeastern West Virginia coal mine early today.

Four other men who miraculously escaped death after being trapped underground were hospitalized in Richwood.

Tuesday was the second straight day for tragedy to strike the coal fields.

Only the day before, 22 men were killed in an explosion at the Bishop, Va., mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

Tuesday's blast centered a mile and a half deep in the Burton mine of the Oglebay-Norton Co., a Cleveland-based mining, marketing, ore and shipping concern between here and Richwood.

54 Men at Work

Fifty-four men were at work underground, but 37 were working on the surface-side of the explosion and scurried to safety without injury.

The Burton operation is a slope mine, bored into the side of Clinch Mountain. It is located in a barely accessible hollow on the banks of the small Gauley River in Nicholas County.

The first of four men rescued reached the surface on his own feet, leaning on the shoulders of his rescuers, some four hours after the blast. He was Artie Humphreys of Craigsville.

Three others, two of them horribly burned, were brought out on stretchers.

In critical condition were Paul Davis, Craigsville, and William Tucker, Persinger. Less seriously burned was Okey Donaldson, Summersville.

Among the dead were mine Supt. O. C. Gates and Asst. Supt. Eddie Stephenson, both of Craigsville.

The other victims were:

Joe McVey, Owen Wyatt, Kyle Spencer, Henry Westfall and Ralph Adams, all of Craigsville; William Anderson and Harry Fletcher, both of Camden-on-Gauley; Pete Weese of Richwood; Henry Bryant of Summersville; Howard Chaffin of Fenwick, and Donald Davis of LaFrank.

State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson said all the evidence indicated a gas ignition.

$53,603 For Community Chest Counted

Total contributions of $53,603 today put the Salem Community Chest drive past the amount raised last year but yet short of the current $61,295 goal.

General Chairman Albert Hanna said that the drive now stands at 87 and one-half per cent of the quota and he appealed to fund solicitors and prospective donors to help put the campaign over the top by this weekend.

Latest contributions showed a $599 gain over the previous team reports to Chest headquarters.

Four teams have exceeded their individual quotas that were established when the drive opened Oct. 4 and Mr. Hanna said he is confident several others will top their goals by tomorrow.

"With one big effort we can bring the drive to a successful conclusion," the chairman declared. "Eleven agencies need our support through the Chest."

Retarded Children's Council Hears Report

Mrs. Margaret Starbuck, teacher at Salem's Retarded Children's School, reported on the recent state workshop in Columbus for teachers and administrators of Ohio's community classes for retarded children when Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children met at Westminster House Tuesday night.

Also present were Donald Mackey of East Liverpool and Dr. R. T. Holzback, members of the advisory board.

In order that parents may become better acquainted with the work their children are doing at the school, it was decided to plan for an open house meeting at some future date.

The next meeting of the council will be Nov. 25 at the Lisbon Presbyterian Church.

Eisenhower Ends '58 Campaign

TV, Radio Address
Will Close Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, back from a three-state campaign tour, will close his drive for election of a Republican Congress with a nationwide television-radio address from Baltimore Friday night.

The President returned to the capital by plane early today after a day and half of tub-thumping for votes in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Baltimore address will climax what generally is regarded as the hardest hitting campaign of Eisenhower's political career.

However, he pitched his politicking on a less harsh note in New York Tuesday. He spoke at two rallies of party workers and urged election of Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating to the U.S. Senate.

Visit Had Helped

Rockefeller joined Keating in telling enthusiastic audiences of GOP workers that they as the ticket leaders were happy Eisenhower came to New York — and that his visit had helped them.

There had been talk that Rockefeller, a former foreign policy aide to Eisenhower, was something less than happy about having the President campaigning in the state.

Rockefeller a few days ago took what seemed to amount to a dff view of Eisenhower's new campaign technique — his attacks on the Democrats as left-wing radicals, as reckless spendthrifts, and as promoters of inflation-breeding schemes.

Shortly after the President's arrival in Manhattan, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty sought to scuttle talk of any discord.

Hagerty tagged as completely false reports that the GOP state organization — and Rockefeller specifically — had urged against Eisenhower's making any major political speech in New York. The press secretary said the Republican National Committee had decided that the President's top campaign address in the East should be in Pittsburgh, where he spoke Monday evening, in his home state of Pennsylvania.

Pasternak Refuses 1958 Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for Literature. He referred to "the society I live in."

Pasternak sent a cable to Dr. Anders Osterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

"Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in, I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me," Pasternak said. "Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oesterling received a cable from Pasternak Saturday expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

That cable read: "Immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished, abashed."

Something Had Happened Today's cable indicated that in the meantime something had happened to Pasternak to change his mind. The author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago," which is critical of communism, has been under rigorous attack in the Soviet press.

Pasternak was named for the award last week. The Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political maneuver.

Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and "Doctor Zhivago." It said he should reject the $41,420 cash prize if there were "a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel Prize Committee presented the Russians with a dilemma. It awarded the Prize in Physics Tuesday to three top-ranking Soviet scientists — P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm. The question was: would the Soviets let the scientists accept the physics award and at the same time keep Pasternak home?

The answer appeared in the Soviet press in Moscow today. The Russians were setting up a double standard on the Nobel prizes.

It said the physics award was fitting but at the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

"Doctor Zhivago" has never been published in the Soviet Union, but it is being widely read abroad.

KILLED BY AUTO WARREN, Ohio (AP) — George Manica, 76, an inmate of the Trumbull County Home, was killed by an automobile Tuesday night as he crossed Ohio 45 near the home.

Altogether, the federal tax take for fiscal 1958 came to $79,978,000,000, second only to the record $80,172,000 of fiscal 1957.

Auto Burns After Crashing Into Pole An auto driven by William F. Bycroft, 36, of East Palestine, crashed into a utility pole and burned on Rt. 170, just north of East Palestine, at 1:45 a.m. today.

Bycroft, who escaped uninjured, was able to get out of the car just before it burst into flames, state highway patrolmen said.

Patrolmen said the accident occurred when Bycroft, traveling at a high rate of speed, lost control of the car which went off the left side of the road. As he tried to regain the highway, the auto veered off the right side of the road, striking the pole.

Bycroft was arrested for drunk driving. He was fined $100 and costs and given three days in jail by Mayor Paul Merwin of East Palestine.

Names of the instructors were not announced.

The local members of the platoon were inducted June 19. Following 12 weeks' basic training at Parris Island, S.C., the platoon was assigned to Camp LeJeune four weeks ago.

The local servicemen complaining of being slapped, pushed and forced to make payments of $10 each to the instructors. They had told of the incidents in letters to their parents and also verbally when their parents visited them during graduation exercises at Parris Island Sept. 23.

Parents of the servicemen also charged that they suffered "rude treatment" when they attended the graduation exercises.

Tension Easing Over Quemoy

U.S. Ships Stay
Outside 12 Miles

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communist artillery shelled Quemoy again today but there was a noticeable easing of tension over the offshore island crisis.

AP correspondent David Lanchashire, on Quemoy, said the Communist artillery fired sporadically through the morning.

Wednesday was an odd-numbered day, meaning unlimited shelling under the Reds' strange announced new tactic. They said they would not fire on even-numbered days into Quemoy's landing areas and invited the Nationalists to ship in supplies then.

There were these signs of a slack in tension:

1. U.S. Navy destroyers of the Formosa Strait patrol have stopped movements inside the 12 miles of coastal waters claimed by Red China, it was learned. For the past two days, Peiping has issued none of its "serious warnings" that its 12-mile limit was being violated.

2. The chief Nationalist military spokesman, Rear Adm. Liu Hsiu-tai, said the Communist shelling now was viewed as a nuisance bombardment to save face "because the Communists have known since the second week of their offensive (in September) that their

Judge Denies Acquittal In Police Trial

LISBON — Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, ex-police officers charged with a 1952 burglary, were slated to testify today in their trial which was marked this morning by efforts of the defense to obtain a directed verdict of acquittal.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw completed his case against the two men yesterday afternoon and the start of the defense case was delayed this morning while unsuccessful attempts were made to eliminate some state evidence.

Cunningham and Carroll are charged with burglary of the Smith and Phillips Co. store in October, 1952.

Defense counsel moved to have Judge Raymond S. Buzzard issue a directed verdict of acquittal on grounds there was insufficient proof of the crime against the two men.

Judge Buzzard overruled the motion for the directed verdict, stating that the weight of the evidence should be determined by the jury.

Judge Buzzard's ruling was made at 10:45, marking one hour and 45 minutes that the jury of eight women and four men had been excused to permit arguments and motions by the defense.

Robert McBane, another former patrolman, who has pleaded guilty to eight burglary indictments, testified for the state Tuesday.

FINED IN E. PALESTINE EAST PALESTINE — Robert L. Cope, 19, of New Waterford, cited by police Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for having no license plates on his car, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Paul Merwin.

1.9 Mill School Levy Vital to Operations

Because the cost of operating schools has increased, like everything else, the Salem Board of Education will seek voters' approval of a 1.9-mill tax levy at Tuesday's general election.

Revenue from the tax levy will be used for general operating expenses, such as paying salaries, furnishing supplies, heat, light and other incidental but necessary expenditures.

Although the tax levy will appear on the ballots as "An additional tax for the benefit of the Salem city school district, for the purpose of providing an adequate amount for current expenses in said school district at a rate not to exceed one and nine-tenths (1.9) mills for each one dollar of valuation," Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr points out that "what the ballot will not say is that the tax rate for bonds from now on will be reduced at least 1.3 mills, thus leaving a total tax rate increase of not over .6 mills."

The present tax rate is 23.60 mills. The board's proposed rate will be 24.20 mills.

For several years, the board of education's tax rate for operating schools has remained practically the same. During that time, real estate was devalued to 80 per cent and heavy factory machinery was transferred to the personal property classification. This meant that for tax purposes, the machinery was listed at 50 per cent of its former listing. These two items alone have caused a loss in the board of education's income in excess of $32,000 every year, it is pointed out.

The board had hoped the normal increase in the school district's wealth would be sufficient to meet the added expense incurred by increased enrollment, but rising costs for practically everything purchased to run the schools along with the need for increasing teachers' salaries, leaves the board of education no choice but to ask for increased tax support.

Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

Secretary of State Dulles says this may be due in some degree to a possible realization among Soviet leaders that despite remarkable scientific achievements the Soviet Union is still behind the United States in the nuclear weapons race in important respects.

Negotiations Imminent Two negotiations are imminent. On Friday the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a worldwide international inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist state and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problems involved in preventing surprise attack — such things as ground and aerial inspection systems which would be capable of discovering concentrations.

Pontiff's Appeal In Tradition of Pope Pius XII

Bishop of Rome
Speaks in Latin
In Radio Broadcast

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII broadcast an appeal to all rulers of the world today to work for peace. His call was in the tradition of his predecessor Pope Pius XII.

The new sovereign pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, broadcasting from the Sistine Chapel less than 20 hours after his election, urged that weapons of destruction be converted into tools of progress.

His swords-into-plowshares appeal was taken as a firm sign that he intends to continue the fight for peace which made Pius XII known as the "Pope of Peace."

Pope John — Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, patriarch of Venice, until his election Tuesday by the College of Cardinals — prayed to God for strength and courage in his new tasks. He called especially upon the Virgin Mary for assistance.

Spoke in Latin The 76-year-old Pope spoke in Latin for 20 minutes in a firm and powerful voice. Before the address, he received the homage of the 51 cardinals gathered in the chapel.

He asked God's help for those in countries where there is no religious freedom — an indirect reference to Communist-ruled nations — and for all who suffer. He told those who "have in their hands the fate of the peoples" that peace comes from the interior soul and cannot be imposed.

His quickness in going before the radio to give his thoughts to the world was taken as a sign that he intends his reign to be a dynamic one. Radio was one of the means frequently used by his predecessor to give his messages to the world and to try to reach the peoples of Soviet Russia, Red China and other Communist-dominated lands.

The new Pope is expected to be crowned within two weeks.

Three Tiered Tiara The jeweled, three-tiered tiara of the papacy, topped by golden orb and cross, perhaps will be placed upon his head Sunday, Nov. 9, in the climax at St. Peter's Basilica of the drama that began with the fatal illness of Pope Pius at Castel Gandolfo.

Vatican authorities prepared today for the coronation, the most colorful ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, while messages of congratulation and best wishes poured in from chiefs of state and government heads of many nations.

After his broadcast, Pope John ordered the reopening of the doors of the conclave area, where 51 princes of the church had gone through the three tense days of

More Ohioans Will Vote With Machines Than Ever Before

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More Ohioans will use voting machines in next Tuesday's election than ever before.

Twenty counties have acquired 5,192 of the lever-equipped devices that outmode paper ballots. Last year 15 of Ohio's 88 counties used only 4,194 machines.

Springfield was the first Ohio city to use them more than a decade ago. They cost about $1,500 each but many are rented.

New counties in the voting machine list compiled by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown are Cuyahoga, Crawford, Geauga, Logan and Washington.

Only 10 counties use machines exclusively. That leaves the familiar paper ballots for nearly two-thirds of Ohio's expected 3,450,000 voters to mark with pencils. Officials estimate about 1,250,000 voters will use machines.

Cuyahoga County has acquired 500 machines for use in 248 of its 2,271 precincts. About 75,000 voters will use them for the first time. The machines have been distributed equally throughout the county and the city of Cleveland.

Half of them are the Shoup, or vertical-type, machines. The others are the Automatic type, listing candidates and issues horizontally.

Manufacturers have agreed to loan the county 25 extra machines for the debut there. That gesture is intended to make sure that waiting lines do not develop as they have on occasion elsewhere.

Brown said waiting lines in machine precincts have virtually disappeared. He expressed belief voter lines would be no worse in mechanized polling places this year than in those using paper ballots despite record registrations.

Officials said election returns from machine precincts usually are reported early because the paper ballot count is slower. They will be watching machine returns for a clue to trends in the Cleveland area where the vote-heavy count always runs late and often is decisive.

Brown said another advantage of machines is their accuracy. Most recounts have shown virtually no change from original tallies, he explained. But recounts in paper ballot precincts sometimes vary widely and occasionally change an election outcome.

Machine use also has reduced the number of election workers in polling places. Many officials said they turned to them because workers are increasingly difficult to find. Long hours and low pay are blamed.

Statute allows a maximum of $18 for election pay but the average ranges between $12 and $15. The polls are open between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. but workers must stay until the count is finished several hours later.

Six workers usually staff a polling place but machines cut that number to four. A few places use a two-platoon system. That method keeps six workers on duty during voting hours but a second shift does the counting. Columbiana County this year will add two extra workers to help count ballots.

Brown said population increases and shifts have required more polling places in many areas. But Coshocton County, by using more machines, reduced its polling places by 15.

Ohio has 12,956 polling places this year compared with 12,440 a year ago and 12,097 in 1956.

The secretary of state asserted polling places generally have not been added to compensate for the reduction of workers in machine precincts. He estimated that 130,000 workers will handle this year's election, one of those workers are volunteers.

Voters are allowed five minutes by law to mark their ballots. Some take a lot longer but officials rarely hurry them. All those in line when the polls close are entitled to vote, Brown said.

Educational Group Rejects Idea of Federal Aid for Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An educational conference looking into the problems facing Ohio public schools has rejected the idea of federal aid to education.

But the 3,000 delegates to the State House Conference on Education could not agree Tuesday on the means to finance the state's ever-expanding school system. They split almost evenly on proposals for a state income tax and a levy on soft drinks.

The conference, which is considering the results of more than 500 local educational conferences held around the state this year, will undoubtedly make its suggestions felt in the next Legislature.

Among the suggestions—most of which were fairly standard—were: More pay and community respect for teachers; state loan funds for needy but capable college students; more clerical help for teachers so they can spend more time at their primary task—teaching.

Better testing and guidance programs for schools children and special programs for gifted children; higher standards for the average student; better school-community relations, and more branches of state universities.

The delegates generally wanted the State Board of Education to be given more money and authority to become a "really effective working body" for better Ohio schools. The delegates particularly wanted the board to take the lead in school district reorganization. Many thought the board should have the authority to force reorganization of sub-standard districts. The largest number of delegates thought the minimum enrollment for a 12-grade school should be between 1,000 and 1,200 pupils.

On the ever present problem of school finances the delegates voted overwhelmingly for a proposal that school bond issues and operating levies require only a simple majority at elections. Under present law they require 55 to 60 percent approval of the voters depending on the type of election.

More than half of the discussion groups agreed that school levies, once approved, should remain in effect until repealed by the voters.

RECEIVE SURPLUS FOOD
BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—More than 1,600 persons in money-strapped Clermont County received surplus food commodities this month from the county welfare department. Welfare Director Wayne Oney reported the sharp increase in commodity distribution Tuesday and said it stems partly from the lack of any poor relief payments this month because the department is nearly broke. He said the department may be able to resume some aid next month.

EDSEL FOR 1959 — To make it America's most practical car, the 1959 Edsel has been repositioned in price and in size. Offered in a selection of 10 models in three series — Ranger, Corsair and Villager station wagon — the 1959 Edsel features increased passenger space with no added overall length, reduced total weight and a wide selection of economy engines and transmissions. Shown here, left, is the Corsair four-door hardtop and (at right) the rear of the Ranger four-door sedan.

All car bodies are completely new in design, but they retain the "Edsel look," which the new line introduced in its first models last year. The Edsel grille is instantly recognizable, but has been adapted to the compact styling theme of the car. Dual headlights have been lowered and are an integral part of the grille. The vertical air scoop retains its outline but has been restyled by liberal use of bright metal to harmonize with the horizontal sweep of the car. The Edsel showing is scheduled Friday.

Girl, 13, With Cancer Has Christmas Party

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — There was a Christmas party at a hospital here Tuesday, but no one except the guest of honor enjoyed it very much.

About two dozen friends, relatives and nurses crowded into the room of Eva Munoz, 13. They gave her presents, decorated a Christmas tree and ate ice cream and cake.

Eva was happy, but a little suspicious. She was tired when the guests had left. Her parents sat quietly during the party.

Doctors say the dark-eyed eighth-grader will never see the real holiday.

She has cancer.

ELECTRICITY GOES OUT
MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two severed electric lines in an isolated area Tuesday night knocked out the police headquarters broadcasting equipment and radio station WFFB, darkened hundreds of homes and disrupted business at the new shopping center here for nearly four hours. Officials of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. said vandals may be responsible.

24 DONORS EXPECTED
CLEVELAND (AP)—A group of 24 blood donors are expected here from Port Clinton and Oak Harbor today to give blood at St. Vincent Charity Hospital to Paula Jean Beck, 11, of Oak Harbor. The child is undergoing a second open-heart operation involving use of an artificial heart and nearly three gallons of fresh blood.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS ADOPT PLATFORM

1. We believe the commissioners should accept surplus food for our county's needy and condemn the present commissioners for not acting on this program, and we pledge—after electing two Democratic commissioners—to put this program into effect.

2. We believe all automobile dealers should have the right to bid on cars purchased for the county. We do not agree with the present system of the commissioners in asking only a select few dealers to bid. We pledge that if R. Max Gard and Frank Wilson are elected commissioners, all dealers will be asked to bid every time an automobile is to be bought by the county.

3. WE DO NOT think the county's taxpayers should have to pay $180,000 for a reappraisal of the county's real estate. We feel if the present county auditor would do his own work, he could save the county thousands of dollars. We pledge, with the election of Kenneth Bell as auditor, the appraisal will be handled by the auditor's office and local people will be hired to aid Bell in the appraisal. This will also provide more employment on the local basis.

4. We also condemn the county auditor for not publishing a financial statement every year. We feel every citizen of Columbiana County has a right to know what condition our county's finances are in. We pledge Mr. Bell will publish a statement annually according to law.

5. The Democratic party of the county frowns upon the way present commissioners purchase gasoline and tires for county equipment. We do not think only friends of the commissioners should be able to split to the county, but that every businessman in the county should have the opportunity to bid. We feel thousands of dollars can be saved by taking bids, and we pledge that Mr. Gard and Mr. Wilson, if elected, will purchase items bid.

6. IT IS our belief the county is not receiving its fair share of modern highways, considering the county is among the top 15 largest of Ohio's 88 counties. We have only four miles of four-lane highway, and feel our tax dollars are being spent elsewhere. We pledge John F. Kelly will work in the State Legislature to get more modern highways for the county, thus helping attract new industries.

7. We pledge that Attorney Robert S. Hartford will hold Common Pleas Court sessions from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and as a working judge, will help bring the court dockets up to date. We feel the present judge, seeking re-election, is not doing this and our dockets are filling up with court cases.

8. We pledge Carl L. Stacey will give prompt and efficient service in the title and legal departments five and a half days a week when elected clerk of courts.

This Is the Week That Tells

If the Republicans, who are supposed to be underdogs in the voting this year, are going to improve their prospects before Nov. 4, this is the week they will have to do it. No votes will be changed at the last minute.

There will be no last-minute sensations that will shift prevailing political sentiment one way or another.

Citizens who are eligible to vote in congressional districts, for governors and for U.S. senators will not be mass-converted one way or the other.

Candidates will think of nothing to say that can sway the minds of voters as the tornado sways the trees.

The only thing that could make it appear that the underdogs are going to make a fight of it is a change in the psychology of the underdogs, themselves.

They could become top-dogs if they decided to make a fight of it.

The one thing handicapping them in the election of 1958 is their lack of resolution. It is not universal, but it is too widespread for political comfort.

IN NEW YORK STATE, where the underdog Republicans are making a fight against everything Tammany Hall stands for in state government, there is no lack of resolution. Republicans have come from behind and are given a chance to beat an entrenched Democratic administration.

In Ohio, despite some fancy throat-cutting at its expense, Gov. O'Neill's Republican administration is favored to hold its own against a coalition determined to corral the state for the peculiar kind of "Little Democracy" that makes its home in downtown Cleveland, Ohio Republicans are making a fight for it.

They have the potential votes to keep a challenging minority from running away with a key state. They have the potential votes to block the heavily financed move to capture Ohio this year and put it into the AFL-CIO sack, along with Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Not all the potential votes are Republican-registered either; that is important. The showdown in Ohio is not so much between Democrats and Republicans as it is between outsiders who think Ohio is ripe for AFL-CIO picking and Ohioans who do not want to be picked. Actually, the division is between two schools of thought about the proper place of unionism in a free society.

But it doesn't matter what the division is about if Ohio voters don't stand up to be counted on Election Day.

THERE IS NO DOUBT whatever that the AFL-CIO managers will get their voters to the polls next Tuesday; that is the secret of their massive effort to knock off Ohio in 1958.

They are gambling on the possibility enough Ohio voters may stay in a daze because they don't care, or in a snit because they're mad at somebody, to make their effort successful.

This is the week that will tell the story.

If Ohio voters can't be waked up and persuaded to take part in government this week, the underdogs will be candidates for hamburger by this time next week. A majority will have lost by default.

It's the Same Old Fight

It is unlikely that the resemblance between union leadership today and big business leadership in Theodore Roosevelt's day has occurred to any union leaders. But if they celebrated the 100th birth date of the great "trust-buster" of the 20th century's infant years by reading history, they noted this significant fact.

When the 20th century dawned, Americans were in a mood to curb the high-handed excesses of the business trusts and monopolies that were running things in this country their own way. They were tired of congressmen bought and paid for by big business. They were looking for a leader. They found one in the opportunistic young man who succeeded the assassinated William McKinley.

Teddy Roosevelt sensed that Americans were afraid of too much power becoming concentrated in too few hands. He was right. He made his political fame by saving individual economic freedom from the threat of big-business monopoly. He gave leadership to the people's instinct to protect themselves from something that threatened to overwhelm them.

So if any leaders of big unionism read about Teddy Roosevelt on the centennial of his birth date, they may have noted a significant resemblance between themselves and apologists for big business who claimed they had nothing but love in their hearts and purity in their souls at the turn of the century.

The people of the United States thought otherwise. They concluded that business needed to be brought under legal discipline. They decided that they, the people, needed to be protected against bigness that rode roughshod over individual rights.

The moral: Big unions can look just as big as big business when they give the American public the idea they are too big to be trimmed down to size by law.

For the Ohio Supreme Court

Two Ohio Supreme Court judges are seeking re-election to the state's highest bench next Tuesday.

They are Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield and James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati.

Judge Zimmerman is seeking his fifth full six-year term and Judge Stewart his third. This newspaper strongly recommends the re-election of both.

Judge Zimmerman and Judge Stewart are rich in judicial experience and have been pillars of strength on the seven-member court.

Once Over

With the election at hand, New York State's choice seems to depend on which candidate needs bicarbonate of soda the least. There can be a last minute rush to the man who says boldly, "There are some things I won't eat, even for an alibi trip."

A Rockefeller sweep could land him in the White House some day. And re-election might point Harriman that way.

Wealthy presidents have been rare, in fact a big-moneyed man on the White House premises has often been enough to start a probe. But old-time distrust of the rich has faded in an age when even the day laborer can loot for tycoons to move over.

The average man knows he gets interviewed by the same tax department that questions the wealthy. It makes for kinship.

THE NEW YORK election boils down to three issues: (1) Which is the more sincere in matter of bagels? (2) Which is the more photogenic considering the money base? (3) Should governments change millionaires after one term? Cassius X. Footsore, our own pollster, reports these last minute views:

Sidney Knucklehead, machinist: "I am an Al Smith up-from-the-bottom Democrat. You can imagine how this leaves me with Rockefeller versus Harriman."

Ezekiel Potts, kalsominer: "I am for Harriman on a rumor Rockefeller might revert to the custom of using dimes for tips."

Oscar Puddicombe, ad man: "It's a case of a railroad background versus an oil background. The big question is whether I am a locomotive whistle man or an auto horn man. I am undecided."

Mrs. Emily Stoopnagle, housewife: "I would like Averell as governor six months, with Nelson in the other six of each year. In case of a tie there could be a playoff on the Riviera."

FRANK COSTELLO is at last in the house-gow and a taste of his last words to his lawyers, as the door clanged, would be interesting. The impression that he was immune from punishment had spread too widely and the jailing called for ceremonies including a parade led by motorcycle police, revenue agents and prosecutors bearing banners "They Said It Couldn't Be Done."

Spencer Tracy is in a new picture "The Last Hurrah" and it must seem swell to be out of that rowboat and away from map-eating sharks.

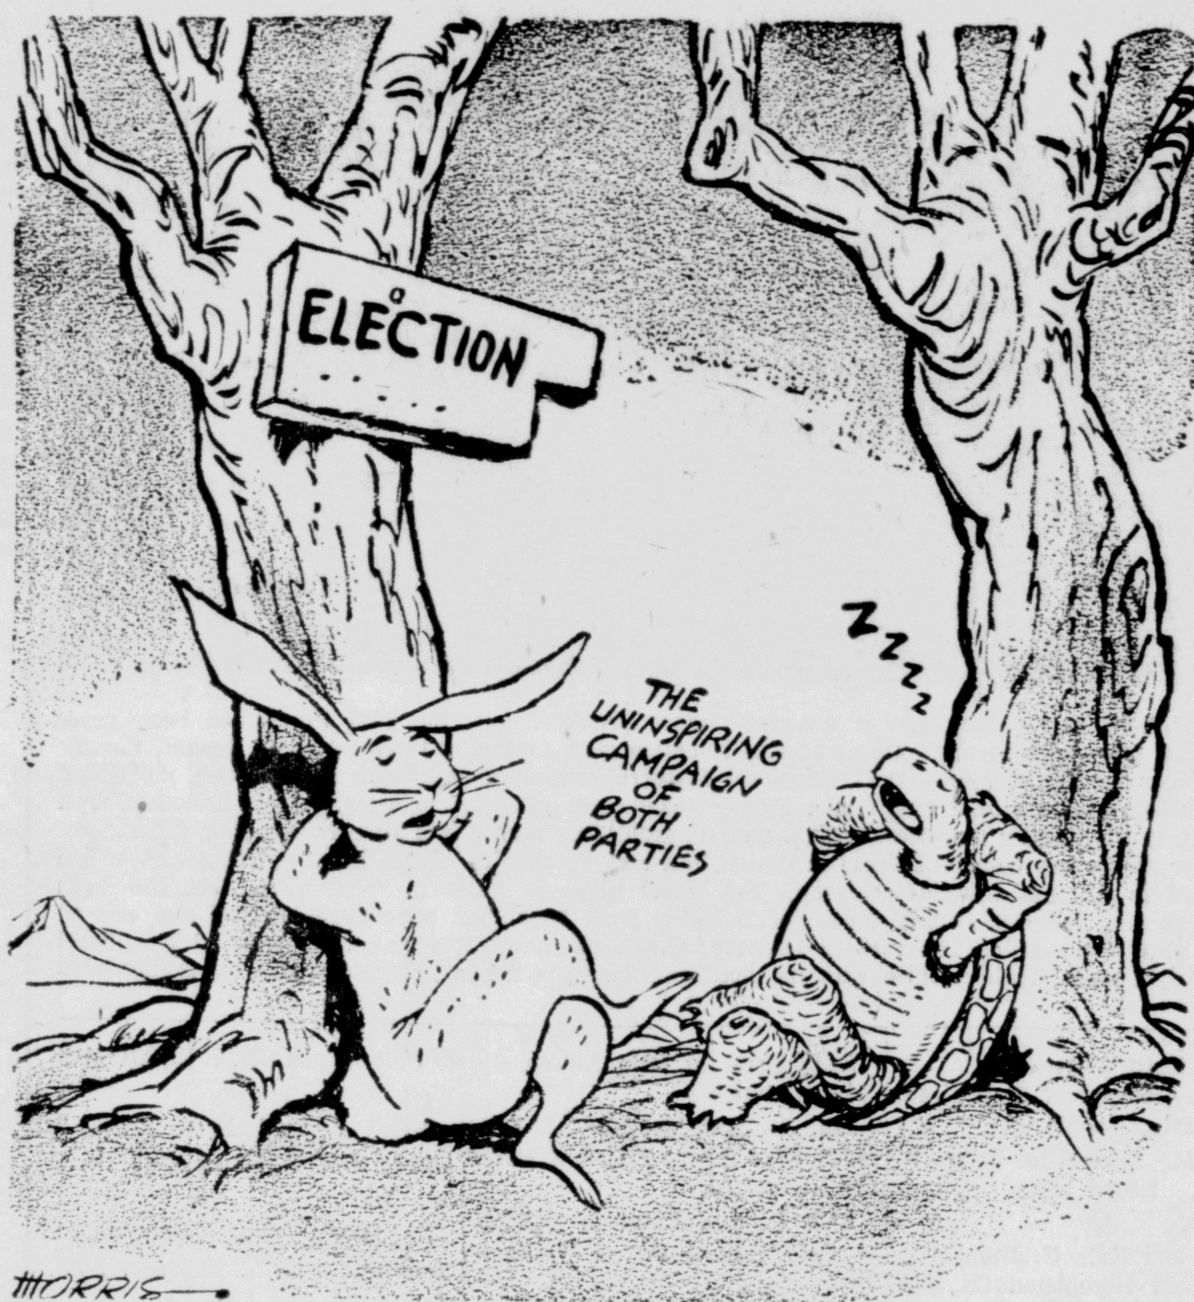

Khrushchev's recent order punishing any man who gets more than one small drink in any bar or restaurant, and cracking down on bartenders, too, is tough on Soviet bar-boys. They can wind up in Outer Mongolia if they don't make customer say, "I'll take a cigar this time." "Don't you know when you've had enough?" bartender can ask, getting answer, "I know I have had enough when I begin to see salt mines." False mustaches, dark glasses and wigs should be in big demand all over Soviet Union if the threat to veto a thirst is carried out.

The couple who met through Univac, electronic computer-analyst, were married the other day. There's no telling how far push-button love may go. Such weddings call for specialized routines. A pre-wedding party in an engineering laboratory, champagne by Mass Tech and the nuptials to the music of the computers and "Here comes the Univackians." The best man and the bridesmaids chosen by IBM. The wedding breakfast at the Automat. The honeymoon at Willow Run. Then the business of choosing a bungalow, preferably in Schenectady, Pittsburgh, Detroit or Canavare. Lifelong happiness assured by electronics. Unless a fuse blows.)

THE LATE "TAD" JONES was elected to Football Hall of Fame the other day. He and his brother Howard were Yale greats in days when Big Three games were the classics, no other contests counted much and tickets were in such demand speculators got $25 to $50 a pair. Tad has been reported to have said in a tight game with Harvard, "Gentlemen, you are about to play football for Yale against Harvard. Never in your life will you do anything so important." It has been widely disputed and we don't believe he ever said it. Tad was not the stuffed shirt type.

Not Sticking to the Old Story

Chiang Real Loser

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a little something for everybody in what happened on Formosa between Chiang Kai-shek and Secretary of State Dulles.

The Red Chinese can claim a psychological victory, Dulles can claim to have soothed world fears, and Chiang can claim renewed American support.

But in this writer's view Chiang came out a real loser and the United States moved closer to recognizing two Chinas.

Chiang has talked of recapturing all China ever since the Communists drove him to Formosa from the mainland in 1949. It's been empty talk, so much so that Chiang needed U.S. help even to defend what he already held.

He couldn't go any place without big American support. But he kept alive the hopes of his Nationalists on Formosa and non-Communist overseas Chinese.

Then last August the Communists began shelling Quemoy, held by Chiang's men close to the mainland, although Formosa is 100 miles away.

The Eisenhower administration backed Chiang's continued occupation of Quemoy and his defense of it.

Many worried Americans and American allies, fearing United States involvement and then perhaps world war, questioned the administration's wisdom.

They raised this question: Is Quemoy, right in Red China's back yard and so far from Formosa, really necessary to the latter's defense?

Dulles on Sept. 30 indicated a snift in policy. He offered to try to trim Chiang's military forces on Quemoy if the Reds quit shelling it; said Chiang was foolish to put so many of his troops there; and gave a terrible setback to any hopes the Nationalists had to returning to the mainland.

He said: "I don't think that just by their own steam they are going to get there." This shook Chiang. He implied his forces would not attack China except in self-defense. Yet, this was not a full renunciation of force.

But as a result of his agitation Dulles went to Formosa to talk to him. After their conference a communique was issued Thursday. In it Chiang publicly ruled out force as the main means of returning to the mainland.

He held out, instead, the hope that nationalism, democracy, and social well-being would do the trick. This seemed to say his only hope of going back was an internal collapse or profound change in the Red regime. Neither is in sight.

The communique, to put it another way, can be interpreted as saying Chiang is reconciled to abandoning all hope of returning to China unless a miracle happens.

This can hardly boost the morale of his Nationalists on China. If they get dispirited, he may be in for trouble.

The Red Chinese can claim this as a psychological victory, because Dulles wouldn't have gone to Formosa and the communique wouldn't have been issued if the Communists hadn't created crisis and raised world fears by shelling Quemoy.

At the same time it was reliably reported on Formosa that Dulles had persuaded Chiang to reduce his Quemoy forces if the Reds quit shooting.

Dulles can claim that this and his statement made public Thursday—that this country is not going to attack or tolerate attacks against the Chinese Communists—reassure Americans and American allies against fear of war over Quemoy.

At the same time it was reported at Taipei that Dulles promised Chiang this country would provide him with modern weapons to replace any military strength he relinquished by reducing his forces on Quemoy.

Dulles also pledged this country would resist any attack by the Chinese Reds lest it weaken Western defense lines. From these promises Chiang can claim renewed American support for the defense of Formosa.

But this country has steadfastly refused to recognize the Red Chinese as the lawful government of all China, insisting Chiang's regime on Formosa is the lawful government of China. Thursday's communique, substantially reiterated this stand.

This is the administration's one-China policy. But it will have difficulty persisting in this policy now that Chiang has practically abandoned all hope of returning to the mainland except through profound internal change or collapse.

Rights of Workers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Union Shop Is Really 'Totalitarian'

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is very skillful in public debate but on the television Sunday she misinterpreted the real issue in the "right to work" controversy. She is not alone in her view, however, for there is widespread misunderstanding by many people of the underlying purpose of the "right to work" issue in the six states where it is on the ballot this year.

Mrs. Roosevelt was asked why, although once a member of the Commission on Human Rights in the United Nations, she today fails to champion the cause of the worker who is threatened with the loss of his job unless he joins a union. The transcript of the interrogation reads in part as follows:

"Q: In your column, Mrs. Roosevelt, in 1941—March 13—you said: 'I do not believe that every man and woman should be forced to join a union.'"

"Mrs. Roosevelt: No, I don't. I do not think you should be forced to join a union, but that means, then, you go work where there is no union."

But that's just the problem. For when a man has learned only one trade and is not skilled in any other occupation, he should not be compelled to give up his means of livelihood and try to get work in some non-unionized plant—if there are any left in his industry.

He could, of course, sell his home and move to some other state or to a foreign country. What a travesty on American freedom and the Bill of Rights!

What Mrs. Roosevelt said, in effect, also is that, when in a plant a majority of the workers want a union, the minority should join and that, since this is a "rule" which the employer and the union have agreed to, the worker should abide by it no matter what his conscientious beliefs may be about joining unions.

NOT SO LONG AGO the "self-styled liberals" were denouncing so-called "McCarthyism" when some employees of the government were being fired from their jobs because they couldn't get "clearance" or when certain workers were being "blacklisted" in private industry because of their "beliefs."

But today the erstwhile champions of "freedom of belief" and "freedom of association" are turning a cold shoulder toward the workingman who doesn't believe in membership in a union.

Take the recent case of the man in Emporium, Pa., who had been working for many years at the same job in a plant when the employer suddenly found himself compelled to sign a form of "closed shop" contract with the union.

The union had a history of having once been expelled from the CIO as Communist-dominated. The worker, as a respected member of the local school board, had taken an oath to have nothing to do with Communists. To be on the safe side, he refused to join the union and then was deprived of his job.

The principle is just the same whether a union is or isn't dominated by Communists. The individual in free America ought never to be compelled to join any private organization, whether benevolent or otherwise, as the price of holding a job. Nor should he be compelled to pay dues to any organization which engages in politics and uses its funds or the services of its officers to participate in political campaigns for certain candidates whom all the individual workers do not endorse.

When Mrs. Roosevelt was on the "Meet the Press" television show last Sunday, she gave the impression that, without the principle of total union membership for all employees in a plant, unions could not maintain collective bargaining rights.

THE FACT is that the right to collective bargaining is achieved by law whenever a majority in a plant express their desire to have a particular union represent them. It isn't lost when a minority dissent or decline to join.

The "law of the land," as laid down first by the Wagner Act and subsequently by the Taft-Hartley Act, guarantees the right of collective bargaining to the union that gains a majority.

The Supreme Court has gone further: It has ruled that individual employees in the minority cannot make separate contracts for wages with the employer. The members of the minority have thus been deprived of the right to bargain collectively.

For this loss of privilege, which the Supreme Court has conceded is "an abridgement of the minority's fundamental rights," these workers now are asked to pay tribute. They must join the union or lose their jobs if the employer and the union act together to enforce such a contract.

The labor unions call this a "union shop," but the term is misleading. It is still a shop dominated by a union even if the minority decline to join. The correct term is a "totalitarian shop." For what is really applied is coercion and, unless 100 per cent of the workers agree to join, those who decline are punished.

Eighteen states have "right to work" laws that prohibit contracts which compel workers to join unions. Six states are voting next week on whether to enact similar laws.

The unions are fighting these proposals vigorously. They seem to be confessing that they cannot depend on voluntary membership but must have 100 per cent membership, and by compulsion if necessary.

Punctual Insects

By THOMAS R. HENRY

WASHINGTON

Ant, carry watches. Rather precise time detectors, built somehow into their nervous systems, give the signal for peaks of activity at certain hours, which differ with each species.

The "watches" apparently make the insects independent of the natural coming of light and dark, according to a report by Dr. Elwood S. McCluskey to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here.

Dr. McCluskey, a Stanford University professor, cites as an example the leaf cutter of the American tropics. The workers forage all day, starting at dawn. An hour before dawn each day they are at the nest entry, ready to start their labors. But they cannot be bought out by artificial light simulating dawn.

Setting of the "watches," Dr. McCluskey says, may be tied up with the nuptial flights of the insects, but in some way the time mechanism is retained even when these flights no longer take place.

Dr. McCluskey studied two species, the Argentine and the harvester ant, in a room with constant temperature and with alternating light and darkness. Under these conditions the males of both species exhibit a sharp daily activity peak, but at opposite ends of the light period. Varying the period of light makes no difference in the work habits of the ants.

The clocklike emergence of Argentine male ants is difficult to explain from the nuptial flight theory, since mating takes place within the nest.

At one time, however, there may have been such flights and the present activity peaks may be evolutionary vestiges of habits firmly established in the distant past, the report said.

There is evidence of somewhat similar time mechanisms among bees, the biologist says.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Don't Force Healthy Child to Eat

I suppose millions of parents have worried and fussed over children who would not eat the food the parents thought they should. In this connection, I always remember one of my much loved teachers in pediatrics in medical school, who said, "Treat the only child as though he were one of seven."

By this he meant that if there were seven children in the family there was simply not time to coddle and coax each one of them into eating. Just put the food on and, if not eaten, take it away again.

A similar position has been taken by a recent writer in the Journal of Pediatrics, based on a study of over 1,000 otherwise healthy children who "just won't eat." The writer found that in many of them there was a history of forcing and physical punishment which led to a feeling in the youngster that all meal times were intensely unpleasant.

THE TREATMENT SUGGESTED was based on several principles:

"That no reasonably healthy normal child will starve if food is available; that anything made hard to get would be more desirable; that a child's inherent negative mechanism desire to say no is increased by efforts to make him eat more than he wants, and that this negativism can be made useful by reversing the previous approach."

The standard program recommended for children under six was as follows:

First day: fruit juice and water in unlimited amounts, but nothing else.

Second day: add fresh fruits, also in unlimited amounts.

Third and fourth days: at each meal, one teaspoon each of protein, such as meat, eggs, or seafood, fresh fruit or vegetable; and a starch, such as rice potatoes, white bread, etc. Fruit and fruit juices are still given without limit between meals.

On the fifth day these foods are increased to two teaspoons of food at each meal, and on the sixth day to three. From then on until the child returns to the doctor the youngster is given as many helpings of each food as desired, but only one teaspoonful at a time. Extra helpings are given only when the child so requests.

IT WAS POINTED OUT that the child's reaction to this regime is always the same. "The child's surprise at having food denied instead of urged, plus the unfamiliar sensation of hunger, which is kept just above hunger cramps by the calories from the fruit and juices, combine to have him "begging for food" by the fourth day."

Children over six, the doctor suggested, must be handled somewhat differently. Once their appetite is well established they are told they must take the responsibility for their own eating. This consists in letting the child serve his own plate, choosing the kinds and amounts of food he wants with the stipulation that if the plate is not cleaned, no dessert is allowed.

A WORD OF CAUTION is in order. A child can have eating problems as a result of disease, and before embarking on any program it is important to make sure that the child is "otherwise healthy."

COLLECTIONS INCREASE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Collections for public utilities taxes this year will total over 38 million dollars, an increase of almost two million over last year's collections. State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy attributed the increase to expansion of utilities which has increased their gross earnings. About 20 1/2 million dollars of the tax revenue will go toward poor relief.

Adeno-Viruses Are Plaguing Servicemen

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A virus that apparently has a yen for military service has created a major mystery for the medicos.

It's one of the so-called "adeno-viruses" — a crew of germs that can cause cold-like illnesses, sometimes pretty severe ones.

The viruses first were discovered several years ago. Since then 23 separate types have been found in humans, including some that cause conjunctivitis, an eye infection.

One of them — called "type 4" — is a real oddball, the American Public Health Assn. was told Tuesday by Dr. Harold S. Ginsberg of Western Reserve University Medical School.

The severe, cold-like infections that it produces are confined almost exclusively "to military clothed adults" — and mainly to recruits — Ginsberg related.

The reason for this, he said, "remains a major epidemiological mystery."

Type 4 has somewhat of a rival in Type 7 as a military pest, but the latter is not so exclusively a camp follower.

Ginsberg said that while each of the 23 adenoviruses are known or believed to affect civilians at times, only two of them — Types 3 and 8 — are of epidemic significance among civilians. And these are largely limited to children.

MUST SERVE 2 TERMS

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Part-time bartender Carl Lilly must spend two 1-20 year terms in Ohio Penitentiary for the fatal shooting of two men he said attacked him outside a tavern. Judge Warren C. Young, set the consecutive terms Tuesday in Common Pleas Court after Lilly, 52, was convicted of second degree manslaughter. James Harvey Sykes, 34, and John Lewis Jr., 31, of Loveland Park, were killed in the affray last July 26.

Sears Open Expanded Facilities on Thursday

The emphasis will be on new departments and the expansion of already existing departments in the Sears, Roebuck and Co. grand opening Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the area formerly occupied by the Golden Eagle store at 165 S. Broadway.

The Sears people have annexed this site and the wall between the two store rooms has been removed, doubling the size of the store. It has provided 10,500 more square feet of space, says Louis Manieri, manager.

The front of the building has been remodeled, and is equipped with fluorescent lighting and is air-conditioned to assure customers comfort.

Two new features include teletype order service and a microfilm library of parts. With the teletype, service customers may order products one day and receive them the next.

The orders are transmitted direct to the Philadelphia, Pa. warehouse.

The firm is one of the first in this area to utilize microfilm. When a customer comes in for a particular part for a broken down appliance, the attendant may obtain it quickly by consulting the film library.

All personnel offices have been remodeled and the rear entrance has also been remodeled for parking access to downtown lots.

The second floor will house building materials and the custom kitchens departments.

It will also show new products that could not be shown before because of limited space, Mr. Manieri explained.

Greater storage is now provided in the basement.

Even the company service station facing S. Ellsworth Ave. has been redecorated and equipped with modern testing and service equipment.

Three Ohio Workmen Injured in Gas Fire

CHESTER, W. Va. (P)—Three Ohio workmen were injured when a gas fire flared at a substation of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. Tuesday. Ray Baughman 59, of Rogers was admitted to City Hospital at nearby East Liverpool, Ohio, with first and second-degree burns. Vincent LaNeve, 28, and Harold Sneddon, 43, both of East Liverpool, were treated and released. The burning gas set fire to the roof of the substation but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

DAMAGES AWARDED

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Common Pleas Jury Tuesday awarded $45,000 damages to Wiley Blair, a construction worker, for injuries received when he breathed poisonous gas while repairing an underground conduit at the Collins Park Filtration Plant. The city of Toledo maintained during the seven-day trial that no chlorine gas had entered the conduit. Blair's attorneys said gas leaked from a pipe and caused him to lose his voice and suffer other permanent disability.

THE EXPANDED and remodeled Sears Roebuck store on South Broadway adds an improvement note to Salem's mercantile district. Louis Manieri (pictured at right) is manager of the store.

Council of Church Women To Sponsor Special Program

In observance of World Community Day, Nov. 7, the Salem Council of Church Women are sponsoring a special program to be presented at 1:45 p.m. in the First Methodist Church.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. C. P. Dudley of Cleveland. Her topic will be "Exchange — Goods, Ideas and People." Mrs. Dudley has just completed a four-year term as president of the North East Ohio Conference of Methodist Women. In this capacity she became acquainted with the work done at home and abroad by the Christian women of America, and came to know personnel working in foreign areas as well as home areas.

Millions of church women throughout the world will meet to promote world peace and understanding. The national organization is asking Christian women to bring a yard or more of new material and yarn to be sent to needy women in the South Sea and Asian areas. This will enable women in refugee camps to make clothes for their families.

The meeting will begin with a musical program under the direction of Mrs. William Snowball. An ensemble from Salem Senior High School will furnish the special music.

Mrs. Cope stressed the fact that there are no barriers in race or creed and that the organization works closely with school and church programs.

The Y-Teens also work on the Round Robin, a pamphlet which is published every two months for victims of multiple sclerosis. Miss Ruth Cosgrove, public affairs chairman, arranged the program and introduced Mrs. Cope. Mrs. Phillip Bush was co-chairman.

United States Opens Busy A-Test Day

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —What could be the busiest day in the 13 years of nuclear tests opened with an atomic bang in the wee hours today.

Detonation of a relatively small atomic weapon—first of five tests scheduled for today — lit up the dark, desert sky shortly before dawn.

The test, the oft-postponed Matzama, had power equal to more than 1,000 tons of TNT.

Five tests, including a whopper underground blast, were scheduled in a speeded up program to beat the Friday test deadline.

If all go off, it will set a record for nuclear tests in a single day. Three in one day were the most fired previously.

Two of the shots were planned from balloons. Two were scheduled from towers, and the other—the big one—in a tunnel.

The tunnel blast, nicknamed Bianca, was equal to 20,000 tons of TNT—the most powerful underground shot ever detonated at this Atomic Energy Commission test site.

Blanca, rigged in a tunnel 860 feet under a mesa top, was as powerful as the first atomic test set off 13 years ago at Trinity, N.M.

It also had the force of each of the atomic bombs dropped on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki at the end of World War II.

Atomic testers fired an underground shot Tuesday that ejected a plume of dust 1,000 feet or more from the mouth of a tunnel. Aside from the dust, the explosion was un spectacular.

Services Scheduled for Virginia Mine Victims

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—The heart-rending task of burying victims of a mine accident began again today in this little southwestern Virginia coal town.

For the second time in 21 months, services are scheduled for miners whose lives were snuffed out in an explosion at the Bishop diggings of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

Thirty-seven men died in a February 1957 blast here. Another explosion Monday morning claimed the lives of 22.

A possible cause of the latest explosion was given by a Pocahontas official who declined to be identified. He said a poorly placed blasting charge may have ignited gas inside the mine.

Brigitte Bardot Warns Unauthorized Writers

The 23-year-old French star said in a statement to Paris newspapers that at least 10 people are now pestering her to write the story of her life and loves.

Her warning may have been designed to protect the market for a more or less official account now being revised by her mother.

10-Year-Old Admits Shooting Housewife With .22 Revolver

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy verbally admitted to police today he shot a 32-year-old housewife when she refused to drop her purse.

Bill Maraggos, chief investigator for the Arapahoe County sheriff's office, identified the boy as Kerry Dale Casey, son of Charles Wade Casey. Maraggos said the boy admitted the shooting after he was brought to the county jail.

Mrs. Shirley Orlofsky was shot in front of her home in this Denver suburb Tuesday evening. She was in fair condition with a small-caliber bullet wound in the left shoulder.

Maraggos said the boy, roused out of a sound sleep, first denied the shooting but later orally admitted it after a .22-caliber revolver, believed used by the boy, and several other guns were found in the basement of the Casey home.

Maraggos quoted the boy as saying "I didn't mean to hurt her." He said he was "doing it like they do on the TV."

No charges were filed.

Mrs. Orlofsky said the boy approached her from across the street when she left a bus. "Drop your purse or I'll shoot you," he ordered. "I'm not kidding. I just shot a guy and dropped him."

"I laughed at him at first," Mrs. Orlofsky said.

Mrs. Orlofsky said she jokingly asked the boy where the shooting took place. He jerked his thumb vaguely over his shoulder.

When the blond boy again ordered her to drop the purse, Mrs. Orlofsky said, she turned and walked toward her home. After once pulling the trigger on an apparent misfire, she said, the youngster fired.

The bullet struck her just under the shoulder blade. She staggered into the house and collapsed.

Mrs. Orlofsky is the mother of three children. Her husband is a salesman for a Denver radio station.

Maraggos said police went to the Casey home to check out an anonymous phone tip.

"He showed no remorse," said Maraggos. "He acts more like a 17-year-old."

Crude Bomb Discovered In Virginia High School

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A janitor reached into a trash container at the 1,750-pupil E. C. Glass High School Tuesday and came up with a paper bag containing dynamite.

Inserted in the explosive was a cap and running from the cap was a coil of wire. A flashlight battery, not connected to the wire, also was in the bag.

The discovery came after pupils in the white school, where a bombing threat was received last Thursday, had left for home. Authorities had ordered the school evacuated after last week's threat but no explosive was found.

Dean of Men Disbands School's 'Drinking 100'

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—The Western Michigan University fraternity chapter of Delta Upsilon fraternity has been ordered dissolved by Dean of Men J. Townner Smith for a half-time exhibition at last Saturday's homecoming football game with the University of Toledo.

The fraternity has appealed Smith's order to President Paul V. Sangren and will get a hearing Friday before Vice President Dale Faunce.

At halftime Saturday, Delta Upsilon members paraded around the stadium track carrying a 25-foot long banner reading "The Drinking 100." Western Michigan's band is known as "The Marching 100."

Smith said "use of the banner cast an unfair cloud, reflection and embarrassment over the university, the student body, the inter-fraternity council, the faculty, the administration and the faculty sponsors."

Negro Women Hit 'Unequal' Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Four Negro women demand one million dollars in damages from the city on grounds their children suffered by attending inferior and segregated schools.

The claim was filed Tuesday at the city comptroller's office.

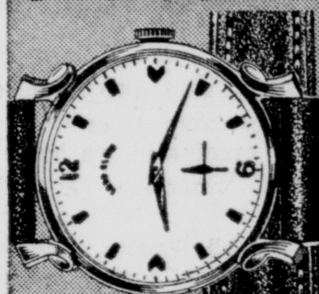

It charged that the rights of the children under the 14th Amendment and the state civil rights law are being violated through "the perpetuation of a public school system which provides segregated and unequal facilities for Negro and Puerto Rican children."

The Harlem parents charged the system tended "to retard the educational development of Negro children and to deprive them of many of the benefits they would receive in a racially integrated school system."

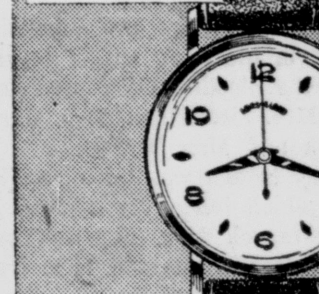

The claim is expected to result in a lawsuit against the city—on the assumption the city will not honor the demand.

There is no segregation by law or by intent in New York. But because of residential patterns, some schools in heavily Negro areas have predominantly Negro student bodies.

DIRTY, BUT HAPPY — More American homes, at latest count, have television sets than have bathtubs. This is not meant to arouse doubts about the cleanliness of the citizenry, but merely points up the tremendous growth of the 12-year-old TV industry. According to Television Factbook, 42.4 million homes, or 84 per cent of the total, have one or more TV sets. This figure is exceeded only by the number of home radios.

Oklahoma, Colorado to Meet in Saturday's Top Game

Buffaloes Lead In Yards Rushing

Sooners Are Fourth In Total Offense

By The Associated Press

Colorado, the nation's only major college football team that has gained more than 400 yards a game all season, and Oklahoma, which has rolled in oldtime form for 493 yards in its last two games, collide Saturday at Boulder, Colo. Something's gotta give.

That was the indication today from the weekly NCAA Service Bureau team statistics.

The figures show Colorado's Golden Buffaloes, who have been showing the way in rushing offense for three weeks, also have climbed to the top in total offense, displacing the Army team that was limited to 165 yards by Pittsburgh.

Oklahoma, which dropped out of sight (statistically speaking) after its loss to Texas, has come right back in routing Kansas and Kansas State and now is fourth in total offense and fifth in rushing.

Colorado is second and Oklahoma third in the major scoring race behind Rutgers.

Here's how the comparative statistics look:

Rushing — Colorado has averaged 347.2 yards per game to 273.3 yards for runner — up Brigham Young. Oklahoma's fifth place average is 253.6. The Buffs have gained more running yards in five games than any other team has gained in six. BYU, unranked last week, picked up 465 against Montana to move into second place.

Total offense — Colorado, with an average gain of 411.2 yards a game, is the only team above the 400 yard level which at least one major team has reached for the full season every year since 1941. It's Army 385.6 yards, Iowa 383.8 and Oklahoma 382.2 in a close race for second.

Scoring — Rutgers, with 173 points in five games, has an average of 34.6 per game. Colorado has a 31.2 average and Oklahoma 30 even. Other high scoring teams are Houston, 29.3; Syracuse, 28.8; Northwestern, 27.8; Army, 26.8; VMI, 25.3 and Virginia and Tulsa 25.2.

The inconsistency of forward passers has been one of the season's mysteries and this week saw five new teams in the first ten. Hardin-Simmons held its place as the No. 1 team. The Texans are first in attempts (190), completions (91), yards (979) and gains per game (163.2).

Navy, which made 545 yards and 50 points in a breeze against Penn, moved from 13th to second with a 158-yard average. San Jose State and Holy Cross, now third and fourth, came up from 15th and 18th. Iowa and Wake Forest also joined the top ten.

Jimmy Brown Still League's Top Rusher

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cleveland's Jimmy Brown continues to ride herd on a couple of National Football League records.

The rugged Negro back appears a cinch to snap the mark for yardage gained running in one season, and for most touchdowns scored in one year.

In the first 5 games of the season, the former Syracuse All-American has gained 815 yards, only 127 less than the total which last year won him ground gaining honors in his rookie season. The seasonal record of 1,146 yards was set in 1949, by Steve Van Buren, former great of the Philadelphia Eagles.

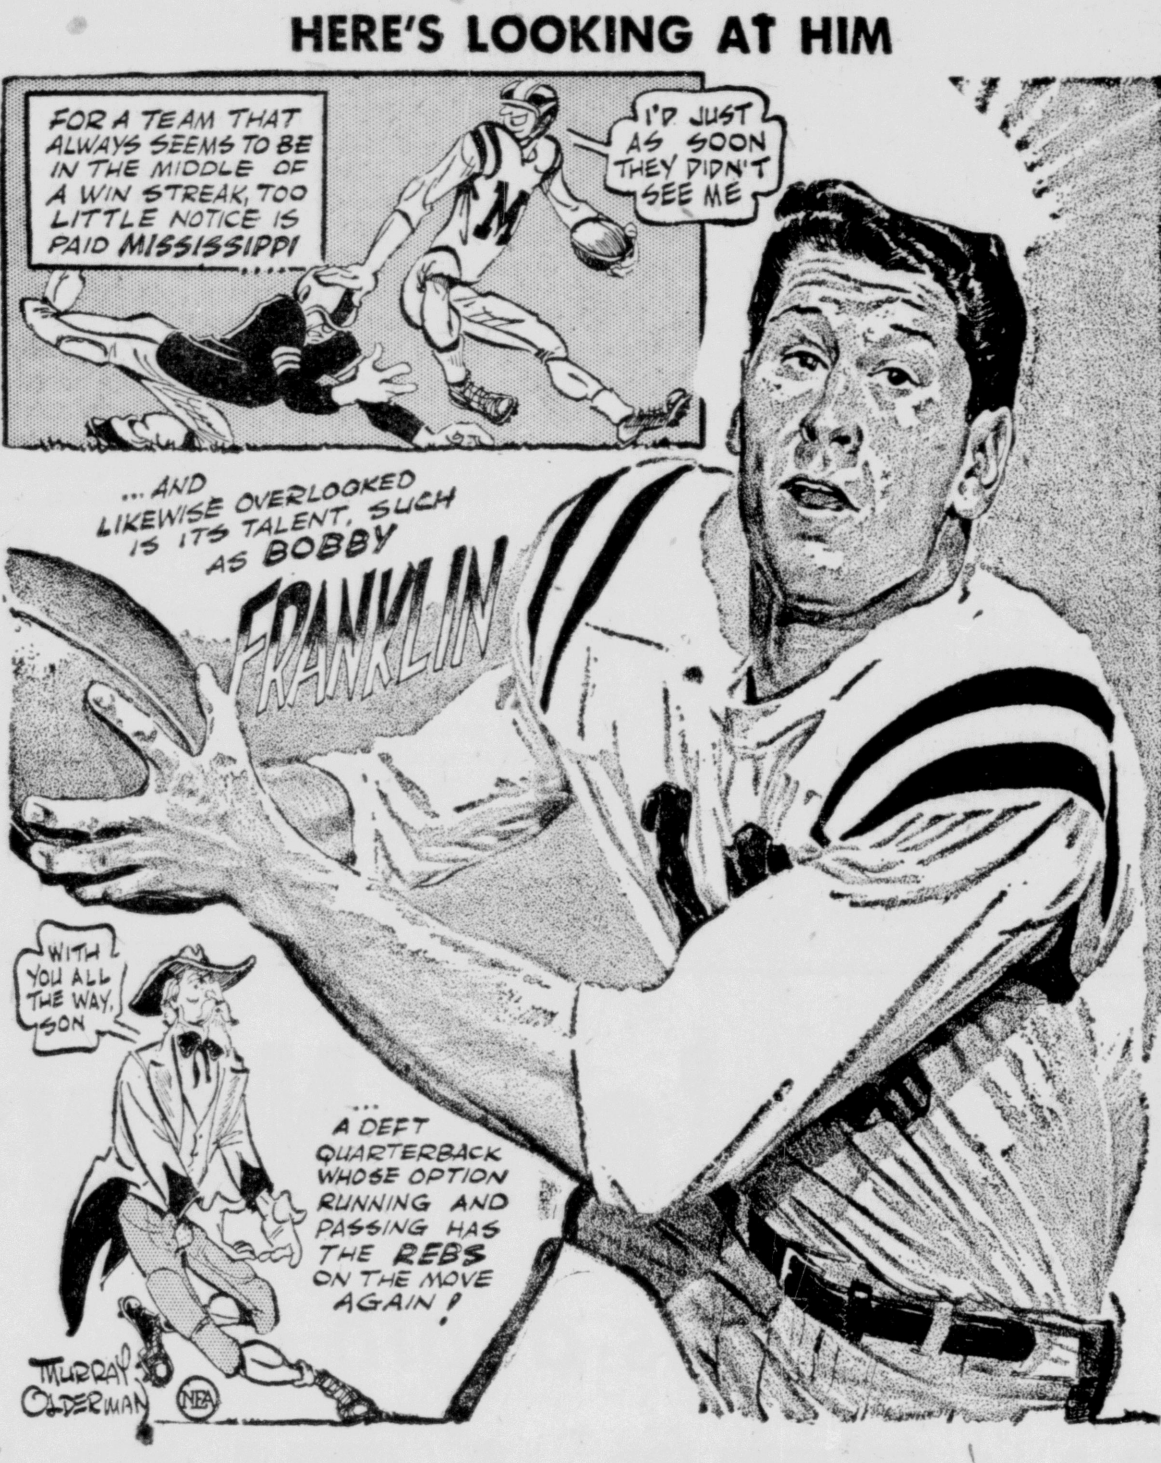

The Cleveland ace has scored 14 touchdowns in leading unbeaten Cleveland to 5 straight victories, only four short of the league record for a 10 game schedule and three shy of the 11 and 12 games schedules.

Brown, averaging 163 yards per game, needs only 204 yards in seven games to shatter Van Buren's mark. The Cleveland team is keeping the ball carrying race in the family with Brown's roommate, Bobby Mitchell, running second with 414 yards. Baltimore's Lanie Moore moved from sixth to third with 324 yards. Willie Gailimore of the Chicago Bears in fourth with 323.

There is a new passing leader, Vito Parilli of Green Bay, with an average of 9.95 yards on 28 completions in 56 attempts for 557 yards and 6 touchdowns. He took over from Eddie Le Baron of Washington, who dropped to third with a 9.08 average. M. C. Reynolds of Chicago held the second spot with a 9.15 average—41 completions on 72 attempts for 659 yards and 5 touchdowns. Milt Plum of Cleveland is fourth with an 8.42 average.

GOES OVER GOAL

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials of Cincinnati's United Appeal drive reported Tuesday night it went more than $50,000 over its $5,833,612 goal. The drive covers two counties in Ohio and three in Kentucky.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Two developments have arisen during the past week which "could" cause the Quakers to be a bit overconfident about their clash this Friday with the Potters of East Liverpool.

They have been the upset win over previously unbeaten and 7th ranked Youngstown East and the ensuing placement of Salem in 14th place as the result of the upset victory.

Lou Vendetti's team has a poor 1-4 record this season while Salem is briskly sailing along at a 5-2 clip.

A loss to the Blue and White would not only shatter the Quakers' 14th place ranking but take the lustre off the triumph over the Youngstowners. Why let a mediocre team like the Potters are this season wreck everything which has been built up so far?

WITH TWO games remaining including East Liverpool, the Quakers "do" have the chance of climbing higher in the AP poll. It's not the fact that the Potters and the Leotonia Bears are tough but that the teams placed ahead of the Salemites could lose and plummet from contention.

I voted Salem in 2nd place last week in acknowledgement of their win over East. It gave them nine of the 37 points they garnered in the poll. How else can a team be rewarded under the voting system now used?

The Red and Black obtained 28 other points from balloters who thought they deserved something for a win over the Golden Bears also.

However, this support could all be thrown out the window by a loss to East Liverpool. The Potters have much to gain and nothing to lose in their clash with Salem.

A WIN OVER Salem would make quite a trophy on the Potter's victory shelf which is really barren these days.

THE QUAKERS defeated EL last year 28-7 but, remember two years ago! Some of the present era Quakers were gridders then. The Potters won that one 55-7 and didn't substitute until the waning seconds.

This should provide some impetus for disregarding any foolishness Friday.

Last season Earle Bruce guided the Quakers to a 9-1 record and a final 10th place standing. Just this week the club has bolted out of the blue and into 14th place. A loss to this week EL squad would not only be a disappointment to the fans but to the coach as well.

A reputation for turning out good teams could well be in the embryonic stage with Mr. Bruce what with the 10th place last year and No. 14 now. However, it would vanish into nothing with a defeat from EL.

The 1958 Quakers might well be very instrumental as the captains of Mr. Bruce's ship of fate.

SPRIT, that transparent halo which glows about a team and lifts them to unbelievable heights, was beaming from all the Quakers in the second half against East.

Against EL, these same players will have another chance to show, that with them, fighting spirit is not a passing fancy but an indelible factor... an element which makes them feared and looked up in awe and something which is as much a part of them as their uniform.

Salem teams then will gain the reputation of playing with the savagery and brutality of a mad bull and not with the meekness and serenity of a feathered refugee from an overcrowded barn yard.

California Is Ahead In PCC Title Race

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The sweet smell of roses wafts throughout the University of California campus. But the Bear football team wants no part of the aroma.

Talk about the Rose Bowl and you get a stock reply: "We're taking them one at a time."

Maybe they are, but the Bears are in the driver's seat with a 3-0 Pacific Coast Conference record. They're favored to whip Oregon State (3-1) at Corvallis Saturday.

The PCC choice is far from decided. Stanford, sometimes up and sometimes down, is 2-1. Washington State is 3-2, and Southern California is 2-2.

Come Saturday night, after WSC plays UCLA, Southern Cal tangles with Stanford, and Oregon meets Washington (0-3), a new favorite could arise.

California hasn't been to the Rose Bowl since 1951. Their record was 1-9 last year.

The Bears have jelled in 1958. They lost to College of the Pacific and Michigan State, then won four straight.

The difference is Joe Kapp, a master of the split T, and a hard-charging, hard-hitting line.

Kapp, 6-foot-2 quarterback, was named Associated Press Back of the Week Tuesday for his role in Saturday's 23-6 upset of Oregon.

He bucked a yard for one score, engineered two scoring drives, raced 92 yards for another touchdown and intercepted two passes.

Kapp says the difference between 1957 and 1958 is a year's experience under Coach Pete El-lott. He'll tell you his teammates rate the glory.

Bob Reifsnyder Back In Action

Star Navy Tackle Has Been Sidelined

By The Associated Press

The "welcome home" sign is up around the nation's gridiron practice fields today as many "prodigal" football players prepare for an infrequent game appearance this weekend.

Foremost is Bob Reifsnyder, Navy's All America tackle who has yet to play this season. The Valley Stream, N. Y., tackle suffered a pulled achilles tendon during a September practice session and has been sidelined since. He said he would play against Notre Dame in Baltimore.

Michigan, which has lost full backs John Herrnstein, by injury, and Tony Rio by suspension, welcomed back Jim Byers. Byers has been out since the first week of practice and is reported ready for the Iowa game Saturday.

Byers moves into the No. 2 full-back slot behind Gene Sisinyak.

Duke, who plays Georgia Tech this week, added quarterback George Harris to its hale and hearty list. Harris has been out with a knee injury, suffered against Virginia Sept. 27. But the Blue Devils saw their No. 1 center, Ted Royal, as a questionable participant against Tech because of a sprained right ankle.

Coach Dick Colman of Princeton, beset with a host of injuries, named Frank Schults at right tackle against Brown Saturday. Schults missed eight weeks of practice due to head injuries.

Marquette has its good news in double doses. Fullbacks Ron Fieber and John Lane both reported ready for Detroit this weekend. Fieber has been sidelined since pre-season practice while Lane broke a finger in Marquette's opening game.

Ed Stubblebine, 244-pound Penn tackle, gets his first start in two years against Harvard this week. Stubblebine broke a leg in pre-season drills two years ago and was out of school last year.

Missouri continues to prepare for its Big Eight battle with Nebraska, with end Dale Pidcock returning to duty after a knee operation.

Maryland's Tommy Mont will have his starting backfield in one unit for the first time Saturday against South Carolina. Halfbacks Ted Kershner and John Forbes, fullback Jim Joyce and quarterbacks Bob Rusevlyn or Dickie Scarbath have all been plagued with injuries.

Two Britishers Listed Among World's Top 10 Heavyweights

NEW YORK — The heavy-weight rankings underwent a big reshuffling by Ring magazine today as the result of British victories over America's Zora Folley and Willie Pastrano.

Cuba's Nino Valdes moved into the No. 2 contender's spot behind Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. For the first time in years, two Britons, Brian London and Henry Cooper, were listed in the elite top 10. London was ranked seventh, Cooper eighth.

Following up Johansson's one-round knockout of Eddie Machen, London stopped Pastran, of Miami Beach, Fla., on cuts, and Cooper outpointed Folley, of Chandler, Ariz.

Here's the way the heavyweight top 10 looks behind World Champion Floyd Patterson:

1. Johansson; 2. Valdes; 3. Folley; 4. Pastrano; 5. Machen Redding, Calif.; 6. light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. San Diego; 7. London; 8. Cooper; 9. Sonny Liston, Philadelphia; 10. Pat McMurry, Tacoma, Wash.

Roy Harris, of Cut and Shoot, Tex. idle since he was stopped by Patterson; Argentina's Alex Miteff and Canadian champion George Chuvalo of Toronto were ousted.

Don Jordan, to-ranking welter-weight contender who earned a title fight by beating Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, for the second straight time, was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring.

Two leading contenders in other divisions were demoted.

Tony Anthony of New York replaced Philadelphia's Harold Johnson as the No. 1 contender in the light heavyweight class.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Take a group of nervous hunters and scatter them around among upward of 500 nervous ducks and when the season opens you have never seen the likes of shaking and shooting in your life.

That was the picture at the Guilford swamps and the Salem Reservoir on opening day last Wednesday.

I don't know why someone didn't get shot.

Irresponsible hunters were shooting at low flying ducks skimming over the cattails but as far as I know no one was hurt.

Pellets were dropping all over the marsh like hail stones. Of course dropping shots lose their trajectory and nobody gets hurt.

Novice hunters that could very well be called "sky-blazers" kept hundreds of ducks away from gun range that only anti-aircraft guns could have brought down.

The actual kill of ducks was light in proportion to the large number of ducks in the area, all on account of the trigger-happy novices that just couldn't wait for a duck to get within gun range.

ONLY A lucky few went home with the limit of four although most hunters bagged at least one duck.

Three young men from Washingtonville had a string of decoys on the Salem Reservoir plus a group of home-made geese decoys. They placed them on the grassy area while they sat concealed, waiting for the waterfowl to come in. In the meantime I observed a hunter sneaking down through the woods and wondered what he was up to.

I kept an eye on him thinking perhaps he was after something more than waterfowl.

All at once when within gun range he fired away at the "geese." The misled hunter was very much chagrined when I began laughing out loud and checked the decoys to see how many pellets he put in the group. Not one pellet found the mark. The Washingtonville boys said they thought they did a fair job creating their own decoys but never thought they were good enough to fool a hunter.

The word "goose" has another meaning.

Emerson Call and Bill Goodchild of Salem played it smart and took to Beaver Creek near Teagarden and had no trouble getting their ducks with a squirrel thrown in to boot.

The variety of ducks exceeded anything I have ever seen in this area. In the hunters bags were hooded mergansers (pretty but no good to eat), bald-pates, mallards, wood ducks, pintails, blue and green wing teal, bluebills, shovelers and gadwalls. About the only ducks missing were the red-heads and canvas backs. No doubt they will fly in later in the season as they always have done within the past few years.

WE ARE situated in the fringe of the Mississippi flyway and are not supposed to have good duck hunting in this county. Ducks were supposed to be scarce this year.

Something happened. Ducks were plentiful. Thanks to our little army of conservationists, they couldn't wait for the ducks to get within gun range so the population was hardly scratched.

One young man from Salem had no waders like the "big boys" who could afford all kinds of equipment. He solved the problem though by wading out pants and all and took ducks along with the rest. He said the water was warmer than the air. So what? He got there just the same.

Cats have been using H. F. Wykoff's garage in Salem as a sort of headquarters, even to the extent of becoming a nuisance. When he opened the garage door one morning there was a black and white striped cat to greet him which he attempted to evict. You can imagine what happened.

This happened to be a "woods kitty" which fought back with the only weapon it had, which was enough.

From here on in he said, "every week will be, be kind to animal week."

Paul Brown's Browns Winning With Brown

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — NEA — Jack Lavelle is a big, portly gent who bird-dogs the National Football League for the New York Giants. The last three Sundays he has happened to be wherever the Cleveland Browns were, which figures—the Giants will be visiting Cleveland this week.

This familiarity, we thought,

JIM BROWN
"Just Shakes Them Off"

should make Lavelle quite conversant with the Browns, and particularly Jim Brown, both of whom have been tramping the NFL.

"Au contraire," Jack shook his Irish head. "I haven't spoken to any of them all fall. I'm afraid to go near them, afraid they might get me."

While trying to duck the Browns, a croix de guerre feat in view of Lavelle's 250 pounds plus, Jack did sneak a peak at Brown and dropped these reactions:

"They hit him, grab him, block him, he just shakes them off. The best back I've seen in six or seven years. You remember how great McElhenny Hugh of the 49ers was when he first came around. This is the same kind, and he's bigger."

Is run all he does? (Which should revive Bob Zupke's line, "All Galli-Curci could do was sing.")

"Naw," shrugged Lavelle. "He's a good blocker and pass receiver. I saw him at Syracuse. He's much better now."

"Against the Cardinals, one play was just like my kids use around the neighborhood. Right up the middle, and he went 63 yards."

IT WAS SUGGESTED that maybe the team that Paul Brown has built around Brown had something to do with the success of the fullback, who's on his way to busting every ground-gaining record.

"Fine team," nodded Lavelle. "But they don't shake off the tacklers that hit Buster Brown."

Although the incoming Giants have made the best defensive showing among the pros to date, Lavelle talked us right out of a long shot hunch.

The other Eastern clubs, three and four games behind the pace-setting Browns, are just out for the exercise at mid-season. The disappointing Washington Redskins take the road to Pittsburgh, which has won only one of five. But the Steelers are coming on with Bob Layne in sharp form.

The Chicago Cardinals, as predicted, gave the Browns quite a tussle, leading into the third quarter. Their offense looks well synchronized enough to head off the luckless Philadelphia Eagles even with Norm Van Brocklin pitching well.

OF MORE CONSEQUENCE are the games in the West, where the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Bears are in a tight, duel for the top. The Bears run into trouble in Los Angeles, because about now every year the Rams start a drive team in the loop at the finish. They have explosive personnel, like Jon Arnett and Del Shofner. The Bears, of course, have Willie Galimore.

The Detroit Lions broke the ice against LA and now, trek to San Francisco.

Although they're all tough, the Baltimore Colts run into somewhat softer pickings against Green Bay. True, the Packers gave the unbeaten leaders of the West a rough time a couple of weeks ago, but Unitas and Co. will be on display before a rabid home crowd this time. They've got winning momentum, too.

Last week we were foolish enough to give a longshot nod to the Skins over the Colts.

Louisiana State, Iowa, Purdue Favored in Saturday Contests

NEW YORK (AP) — After a week's stay on the rim of Upset Gulch in hopes of getting accustomed to the bumps and bruises a forecaster gets on Saturday afternoon: (Last week's record: 27 right, 24 wrong, .529).

Louisiana State over Mississippi: You would think some script writer arranged this one: two unbeaten Southeastern Conference powers tangling with a Sugar Bowl bid probably going to the winner. LSU the pick on Billy Cannon's speed.

Iowa over Michigan: The Hawkeyes have been chided for a year because they played it safe in the 1957 meeting and insured themselves a tie with the Wolverines. Randy Duncan's passing to break deadlock.

Army over Colgate: Without breaking into a sweat.

Auburn over Florida: That Auburn defense is too tough.

Colorado over Oklahoma: Annually Colorado gives Oklahoma fits but winds up in second place. This time the Buffaloes succeed.

Purdue over Illinois: The Illini got their upset last Saturday.

Oregon State over California: The home team should triumph in a struggle as close as their 21-19 fracas a year ago. The winner takes over the Coast Conference lead and the inside track to the Rose Bowl.

Notre Dame over Navy: The Middies' rebuilt line hasn't had time to jell.

Skippping over the others in a hurry:

SATURDAY
EAST: Pittsburgh over Syracuse, Boston College over College of Pacific, Boston University over William & Mary, Lehigh over Bucknell, Buffalo over Temple, Cornell over Columbia, Rutgers over Delaware, Harvard over Penn, Holy Cross over Dayton, Penn State over Furman, Princeton over Brown, Dartmouth over Yale.

SOUTH: North Carolina over Tennessee, Alabama over Georgia, Clemson over Wake Forest, Georgia Tech over Duke, Mississippi State over Kentucky, Florida State over Tampa, South Carolina over Maryland, North Carolina State over Virginia Tech, Richmond over The Citadel, Virginia Military over Virginia, West Virginia over George Washington, Wofford over Davidson.

Cleveland Expected To Draw 60,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' exciting offense is winning more than games this year—it's winning customers.

Attendance at next Sunday's game here with the New York Giants—barring a bad break in weather—is expected to exceed 60,000.

If it does, it will be the third time in three home games that the Browns have drawn more than 60,000.

In eight previous seasons in the National Football League, Cleveland has had only three larger crowds in the stadium for a regular-schedule game.

Last year 65,407 turned out for the Los Angeles game and the year before 60,042 watched a 21-9 loss to the Giants. In their first six years of NFL play, the Browns attracted only one crowd above 60,000—a turnout of 80,698 in 1953 to see an unbeaten Cleveland team squeak by San Francisco 23-21 for its eighth straight triumph.

The opener here this year drew 65,403 fans, and 66,852 were on hand two weeks ago. Weather was ideal both days—sunny, blue skies and temperatures around 60.

With the passing of Indian summer, the size of the crowds will sink with the thermometer. But there may be another crowd of upward of 60,000 here for the Detroit game Nov. 9, the Browns ticket office reports.

Pitt's Guzick Voted Week's Top Lineman

By The Associated Press
John Guzick, 233-pound guard who led a Pitt goal line against Army reminiscent of the stonewall defenses thrown up by the Panthers during Jock Sutherland's coaching regime, was named Lineman of the Week today by The Associated Press.

"As Guzick goes so goes Pitt" has been the campus comment at Pitt this fall. Guzick was at the top of his game as Pitt held Army, then rated the nation's No. 1 team, to a 14-14 tie last Saturday.

Guzick, 6-3 senior from Lawrence, Pa., intercepted an Army aerial and made many key tackles that stalled the Army offense. But his greatest play came late in the game when Army drove to the Pitt four.

Or fourth down Guzick broke through and smeared Army half-back Steve Waldrop and Pitt took over on downs. Pitt's quarterback Ivan Tomic received credit for an assist on the play.

Guzick is a draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football League. He suffered a broken arm against West Virginia in 1956.

Bob Novogratz, Army guard, similarly played a bangup game. Army coaches credited him with 18 tackles in 60 defensive plays.

Henry Christopher, Southern Methodist end, likewise was high up in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters. Christopher put on a grand exhibition as the Mustangs beat Georgia Tech.

Michigan Cage, Football Stars Arraigned For Gambling

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's football fullback and basketball captain have been suspended from their teams in connection with football gambling on campus.

Police issued warrants for the arrest Tuesday of fullback Tony Rio and basketball star Jack Lewis. Warrants also were issued against five nonathlete students.

All seven will be arraigned today on charges of engaging in an illegal occupation in connection with handling football spot cards.

All were released without bond. Rio and Lewis, both 21 and from Chicago, share an apartment near the university's campus.

"We are removing from their respective athletic squads both athletes involved in these charges until their cases are decided," said Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler.

"The coaches know all about it," said Rio. "I told them what part I had in it—which was nothing."

"The coaches have faith in me and will wait to see what happens," he said. "I think the publicity will hurt my football. No matter what happens, people will think I'm wrong. They always take a negative attitude toward bad publicity."

Lewis was unavailable for comment.

Other students arrested were: Nick E. Mitea, 21, Ecorse, Mich.; Durwood J. Collins, 22, Houston, Tex.; John A. Miller, 19, Utica, Mich.; Michael G. Dodgson, 21, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Carl M. Riseman, 21, Detroit, associate sports editor of the campus newspaper, the Michigan Daily.

No comment was available from the five nonathletes.

The charges of the misdemeanor or carry a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a fine of $100 on conviction.

Detective Lt. George Stauch estimated the weekly take from the pool cards ranged in the neighborhood of $10,000. Campus sources said, however, that the weekly take was considerably less.

Texas' Darrell Royal Proposes New Rule

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — Texas Coach Darrell Royal says if they really want to make football more exciting and high scoring they should make everybody run that ball out of the end zone.

Royal, a bitter opponent of the new rule that allows two points after a touchdown if the conversion is made by run or pass, would put in a rule that calls for either running the kick out of the end zone or putting the ball on the 5-yard line.

Under present rules it is an automatic touchback and the defensive team gets the ball on its 20.

I see no reason for giving a team 20 yards for nothing," said Royal. "The team that is receiving the ball does nothing to get the pressure off. Teams and spectators are being robbed."

Royal has opposed the new conversion rule since it went into effect this year. He says "It puts too much pressure on the players and coaches."

He diagrams his new proposal like this: Team A moves the ball from its 30 to its opponent's 40 and can't move further. "Nobody is much interested when you've got the ball in your own end of the field, but they are when you're within your opponent's 40."

"Team A punts into the end zone and Team B decides not to run it out. They get it on the 20 and Team A which moved the ball has been penalized. Now Team B can kick on first down, sending that ball back to their opponent's 40 and what have you got? They get full value for their punt. The other team didn't. It's unfair."

Pope John Is Jovial, Studious, Defender of Public Morals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — "The quiet after the tempest." Thus priests of the archdiocese of Venice described Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli when he became patriarch of the canal city at the head of the Adriatic.

The portly new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church — henceforth to be known as Pope John XXIII — is a jovial man a student of history, and a vigorous defender of public morals. At 76 he begins his reign later in life than any pope in 228 years. But his associates say he has a quick mind, a quick smile, good health and a determined character.

"I was born of poor parents," he told his new flock on his arrival in Venice in 1953. "Providence took me from my native hamlet and led me to travel the roads of the world, from east to west, putting me in contact with most serious social and political problems... (but) don't look at your patriarch as a politician or diplomat — look at him as the servant of God."

Walked City's Streets

He often invited his priests to dine at his table. He walked the city's twisted streets and rode the gondolas through its canals, winning the reputation of a tireless worker.

But his tolerance and good humor did not extend to certain facets of life in the pleasure-loving city.

He closed Venice's churches to tourists in shorts, saying, "Italy is not on the Equator, and even there, by the way, lions wear their coats and crocodiles are lined with their most precious hides."

He told the 1957 Venice Film Festival the movie industry must not limit itself to "presenting the decadence of modern customs... Moviegoers want to see more beautiful things."

He opposed the moving of the gambling casino from the seaside Lido to the center of the city calling gambling a "grave disorder in itself, deplorable and to be condemned wherever it may be practiced, even if in secret."

Few of the new Pope's political views are on the public record. He has spoken against extreme left-wing socialism and like Pius XII can be expected to work unceasingly for peace. His motto as a cardinal was "Obedience and peace." But little or nothing is known about his views on the cold war, the space age, atomic bombs, modern science and other such subjects on which his predecessor in the Vatican often spoke.

The new Pope was born Nov. 25, 1881, in the Bergamo province village of Sotto il Monte, at the foot of the north Italian Alps 30 miles northeast of Milan. He was one of 10 children of Giovanni (John) Battista Roncalli, a poor farmer and Maria Anna M. ...

Beaver PTA To Support School Levies

The Beaver Local Parent-Teacher Association voted at Monday night's meeting to support the school district's renewal of a two mill levy and half mill operating levy for 23 years, which will be on the ballot at the Nov. 4 election.

George M. VanHorne explained the voting issues to the group, and Dr. C. E. Palmer of Lisbon, county health commissioner, spoke on the topic, "Prevention of Disease in Public Health." He also discussed the health levy which will be on the November ballot.

Carl Mansfield presided and the following committee chairmen were appointed: Budget and finance, Urban Petros; ways and means, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dailey and Mr. ad Mrs. Lewis Lee; magazine, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Apple; and music, Miss Carol Pittner.

Mrs. Dailey outlined plans for the booth to be sponsored by the PTA at the Beaver Local High School fair Friday and Saturday nights.

The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Phyllis Horner, and the treasurer, Miss Julia Barnhart, gave her report. Mrs. Horner also read a letter from Judge Louis Tobin from the Child Guidance Counsel Service and a letter from the state office of the Ohio Congress of PTA's in Columbus.

The sixty-five parents in attendance sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Mr. Mansfield read scripture, and Principal Joe Gerlock offered the prayer.

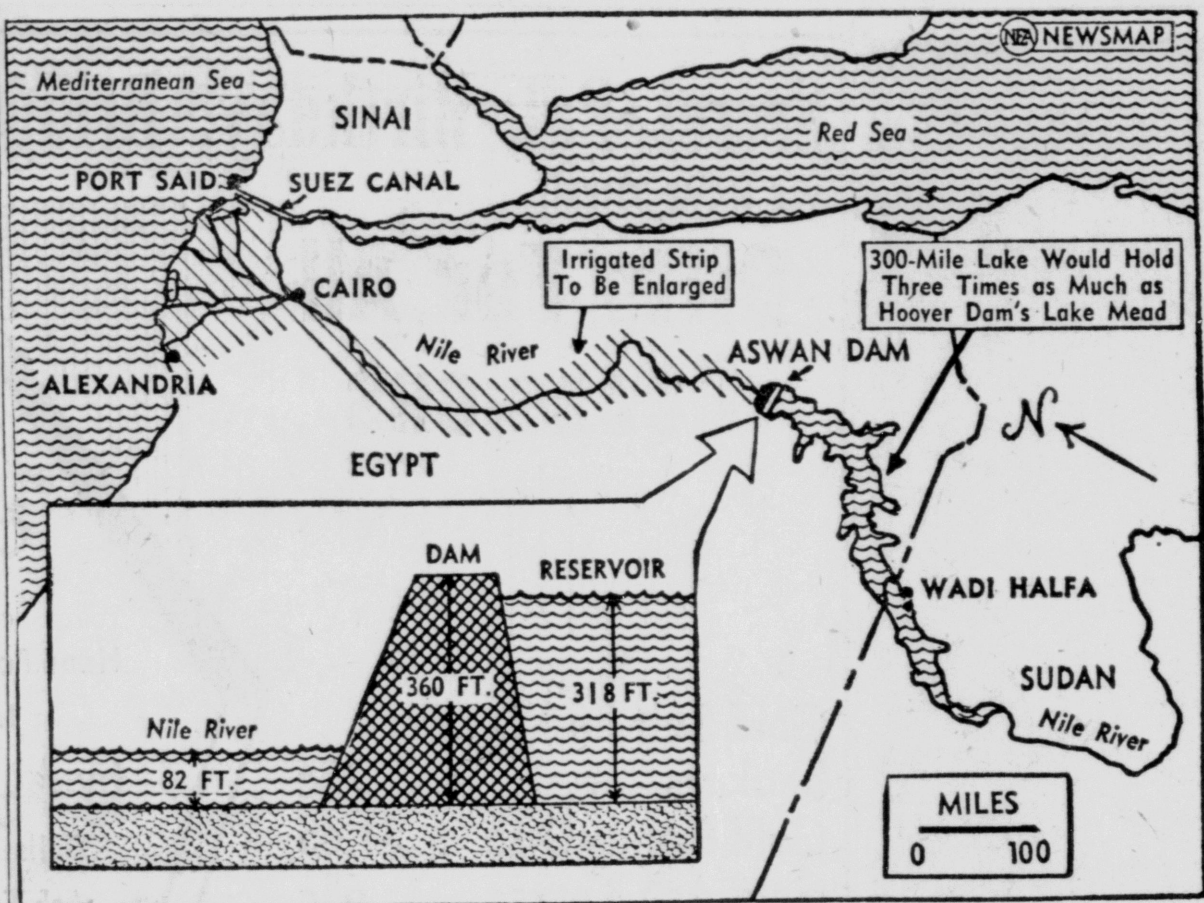

Nila Jane Dozer, an eighth grader, sang "Down in the Valley" with Miss Pittner playing piano accompaniment. Another eighth grader, Joyce Martin, entertained with a piano solo, "Meditation."

Mr. Gerlock introduced the teachers from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Mr. Mansfield asked each of the 21 teachers to select two roommothers from each room.

An executive meeting at 7 p.m. Nov. 24 will be followed by the regular PTA meeting. There will be no December meeting, it was decided.

RUSSIANS RENEW ASWAN OFFER—The Soviet Union has again offered Egypt financial assistance to begin construction of the mammoth Aswan High Dam, Premier Nasser's answer to his growing population. The Russian offer of 100 million dollars would be one-fifth to one-sixth the entire cost of the dam which, when completed, would add two million acres to the country's present 60 million acres of arable land (see Newsmap). Withdrawal of U.S. and British offers of dam aid in 1956 led to Nasser's seizure and nationalization of the Suez Canal.

Soviet Union May Scuttle A-Ban Plans

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Western diplomats at the U.N. grew increasingly fearful today that the Soviet Union plans to scuttle Big Three negotiations for an inspection system to enforce a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The apprehension stemmed from the Soviet Union's latest flat rejection of the U.S.-British call for a one-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests, beginning with the opening of the Big Three talks in Geneva Friday.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister

Valerian Zorin told the U.N.'s 81-nation Political Committee Monday night that the Soviet Union was prepared to contribute "in every possible way" to success of the talks. He made plain, however, that the Kremlin would stick to its insistence on an unconditional agreement to suspend tests "immediately and forever."

The Western nuclear powers demand an inspection system to detect violations before agreeing to any permanent suspension of tests.

Zorin served notice once again that the Soviet Union intends to keep on with its nuclear weapon tests until their number equals the total the United States and Britain have set off since last March 31. On that date the Soviet Union announced it was suspending tests then resumed them Sept. 30. Zorin's statement was the first public Soviet reply to President Eisenhower's challenge Saturday to the Soviet Union to join the United States and Britain in a one-year suspension of all atomic-hydrogen weapon tests. The two Western powers first proposed the one-year suspension last August. Later they proposed alternatively that tests be suspended during the Geneva talks.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

President Eisenhower personally has launched "Operation Fumigation" of the labor racket. This is the second column of two reports on the undisclosed background of his drive to push this crusade against what happens in the election.

Just about the time President Eisenhower was breaking in a new home in the East, sometimes known as the White House, there was brutal violence in the Midwest in what is sometimes known as the House of Labor. East is East and Midwest is Midwest, but the twain did meet. How they met is the inside story of the President's "Operation Fumigation" of the labor racket.

In mid '53 there was a private civil war which racked the people of Kansas City, Kan., and its suburbs. Unions fought unions for control of construction work. Gunmen rode in convoys. Prizefighters were hired as business agents. They mauled each other.

Construction projects run by the opposition were stopped by musclemen, guns in hip pockets, who arrived in caravans.

One all-powerful union chief — and there is no other way to describe him — used a sawed-off auto tire snow chain as a persuader on whimsical nonconformists who thought they were citizens of this land with the usual civil rights therein.

THIS LED to the first of the congressional racket probes. The curious could see and hear this delving into the latter day highwaymen on TV. From there the show hit the road to Minneapolis and Detroit.

Some of this got through to the busy new President of the U.S. Thus in his 1954 State of the Union message came the first sign of today's headlines. President Eisenhower offered some anti-corruption legislative proposals. Nothing happened.

From time to time the Republican congressional group, with whom the President meets regularly, would raise the matter of the arrogance of the labor racketeers.

Then at the end of 1955, the President was amazed to learn that the very same mob which even now is making the headlines had made millions out of the Army's Quartermaster Division.

These revelations came from the probings of Sen. John McClellan and his crusading counsel, Robert Kennedy. At that time they directed the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The President was against. The names of the New York mobsters meant little to him. But, the fact that they had looted the Pentagon of millions of dollars by making shoddy uniforms and chiseling or standards startled Gen. Eisenhower.

Then in 1956 the McClellan com-

SOMETHING TO SQUEEZE AT — Pretty Karin Black of Barrington, Ill., wonders if you can guess what this old-looking instrument she holds was ever used for. It's a lemon squeezer, common in households in the early 1800s, which was on display at a Chicago antique show. The wooden device was designed to close over a lemon half set on the knob.

mittee got started. One night, on June 3 of that year, the President watched TV.

HE HEARD the report of this columnist shortly after my eyes had been injured by an acid hurling hood hired by the mob—the same kind of violence which the President had been noting in oral and written reports submitted to him.

He angered as only the President can when aroused on a crusading issue. He wanted action.

Then came the fully documented exposures of the mishandling of literally tens of millions of dollars of union funds.

In his 1957 State of the Union message Mr. Eisenhower was lots tougher than in his first call in 1954 when he had merely asked for some supervision of pension and welfare funds.

Now he took a more active personal interest in the story. Several times he talked to AFL-CIO chief George Meany.

The President positively did not lump all labor in the racket network. Far from it. He knew that Meany was fighting back. But without laws the government and Meany were helpless, he felt.

BUT THEN CAME an entirely different investigation which seemingly had little to do with the mobs. This was Sen. Albert Gore's glance at political contributions after the story broke on the lobbying of the natural gas interests. This report included in its title the words "together with the minority views." These views were written by Nebraska's Sen. Carl Curtis, also a rackets committee member.

Sen. Curtis's report went deep into the political contributions of all unions, which were considerable.

There were also the indirect contributions through the work of union staffs, and the use of union equipment, such as phones, cars and printing apparatus which all help to whip out a campaign.

President Eisenhower read every word of the report. He discussed the use of union machinery with his staff.

He differentiated between the racket and the clean unions. But he noted that the mob outfits, too, were in politics, and if they ever captured the clean unions, that would be a power intolerable indeed to him and many others.

The President decided to shout out at the first chance he had. He did.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Many years ago two men decided to try an experiment. Whenever they met they said, "Second Timothy, two fifteen" to each other. They never said "Hello," "Goodbye" or the modern salutation, "Hi."

At first people were shocked or amused to hear two men of normal appearance call "Second Timothy, two fifteen" to each other. If anyone had the temerity to ask them why they shouted these strange words, he was merely told to "look it up."

The text became so popular that people did open their dusty Bibles to satisfy their curiosity. Satisfied, they too began to salute their friend, "Second Timothy, two fifteen." A great chain reaction took place and many people began to read God's word as well as to satisfy curiosity.

Maybe you will be curious and will memorize the text itself as well as remember the bit of repetitive advertising. II Timothy 2:15, DIES OF WOUND — James Berry, shot in the hip during an argument in nearby Lincoln Heights, died Monday in Veterans Hospital. Police said Wesley Sparks, 68, shot Berry after trying to intervene in an argument between Berry and Berry's wife. No charge was placed yet against Sparks.

Ellsworth

Thirty Boy Scout leaders and their wives gathered at the Grange Hall on Wednesday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wagner. Mr. Wagner has been very active in this work in Ellsworth Township and has been chosen to take six-weeks schooling in New Jersey and then take a district position near Steubenville.

Mr. Wagner and his family will be moving to Steubenville after his term of schooling is completed. A committee planned games and a lunch for the evening and the group presented a beautiful farewell gift to Mr. and Mrs. Wagner.

A large crowd attended the annual Halloween party sponsored by Meander Post No. 957 V.F.W. of Ellsworth and the Ladies Auxiliary of township firemen held at the School House on Friday evening. Awards were given for the best costumes in several classes and free cider and donuts were served after the judging.

A team of Christian Service workers from Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa. conducted the services in the Presbyterian Church, Church School and Youth Fellowship on Sunday morning and evening.

Several from the Presbyterian Church attended the Mass Meeting and Reformation Rally held at Stambaugh Auditorium in Youngstown on Sunday afternoon. A large choir formed the music and the address was given by Rev. Mr. Edmund Steimle.

A car load of men from Ellsworth went to the First Presbyterian Church in Canton to the annual meeting of United Presbyterian Men on Sunday afternoon. Speakers were Dr. T. M. Taylor, Moderator of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., and Dr. Howard W. Lowry, President of Wooster College.

Mrs. Bertha Terry left last Monday for Florida where she expects to spend most of the coming winter.

The Christ Mission truck will be in Ellsworth on Thursday. Anyone having donations please contact Mrs. F. C. Allen or Mrs. William Schafer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bowman spent last week end in Western Pennsylvania and in the Blackwater State Park in West Virginia.

Mrs. Frank Mangus and Mrs. Wm. Brooks went to Cleveland last Sunday and spent three days attending the sessions of Ohio State Grange. Mrs. Brooks had won first in Mahoning County Granges in angel food cakes and took a cake to the state contest. The results of the contest have not yet been published.

New Concept Hasn't Abolished Punishment

Hickory Stick Is Still Potent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The time of the hickory stick can still be heard in classrooms throughout the nation.

This is one of the main themes which education experts use to counter charges that lax discipline in public schools is helping to increase juvenile delinquency.

A National Education Association survey of more than 4,000 teachers reveals that about half of them have the authority to enforce discipline with corporal punishment. In addition it shows that spankings can also be inflicted by about three-fourths of their principals.

Education experts cite this report as only one important example to prove that they are not coddling pupils. They explain that all schools have disciplinary programs which are usually enforced with some type of punishment.

MANY SCHOOL OFFICIALS believe that largely restrictive methods should be used to make kids toe the mark. Pupil control is usually maintained by imposing such bad conduct penalties as keeping students after school, taking away their privileges and reprimand methods are suspension and expulsion from school, assigning special tasks and corporal punishment.

Other schools operate under the philosophy that discipline should be learned like any other subject.

This program attempts to teach more talk about the new concept than actual practice.

It's this so called "new concept" of discipline that's largely responsible for the verbal spankings which schools are suffering in the controversy on classroom law and order.

Critics claim that this system is too lax and often results in a complete breakdown of classroom control.

ADVOCATES OF the "new concept" counter this charge by explaining that it is supported by psychological and educational research. They also point to the large number of law abiding graduates from schools using this system as further proof that it is not a disciplinary bugaboo.

And they usually cap their arguments by explaining that the "new concept" has not abolished punishment. Instead, these school officials explain, it imposes penalties especially designed to fit the nature of the offense.

For instance, punishment for breaking a window would be to make the offender pay for the damage instead of whipping him or making him stay after school.

Officials of the education association say, however, that their studies show the disciplinary trend still leans toward regular types of punishment. They explain there's

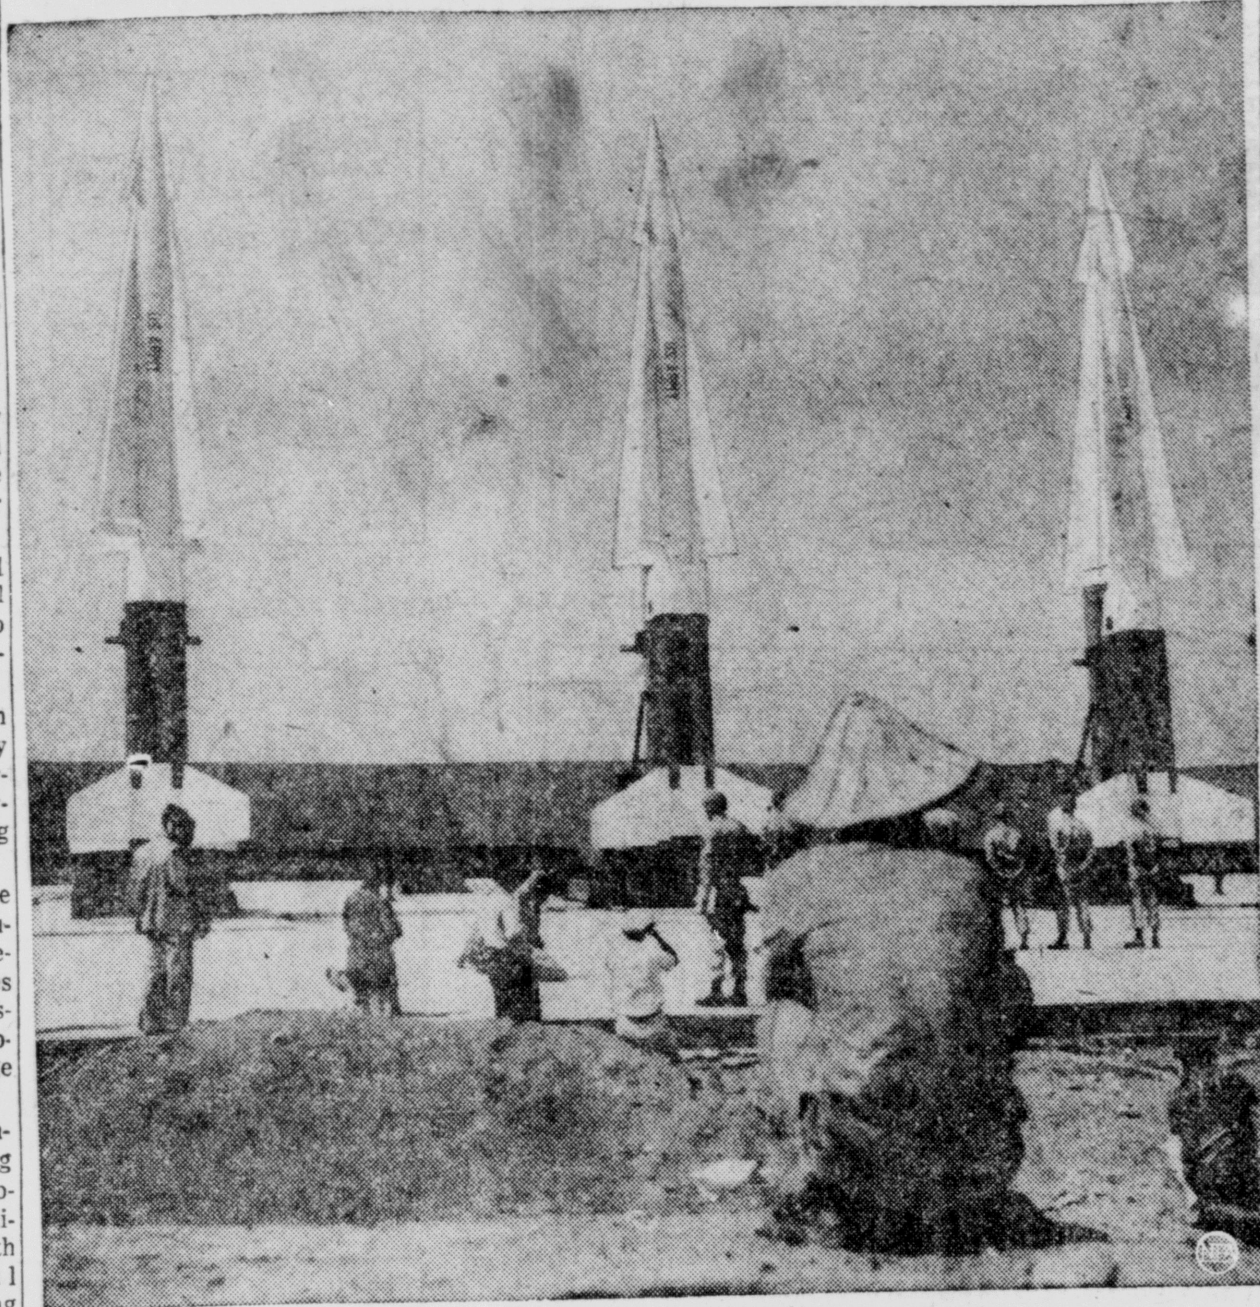

BUT THIS DOESN'T mean that corporal punishment is the answer to keeping kids out of trouble, education experts insist. Investigations of classroom disciplinary measures reveal that teachers with authority to give spankings have about as much trouble with their pupils as those who don't.

This is one reason why school officials emphasize that the real causes of juvenile delinquency do not lie within classroom disciplinary systems.

They blame such well known social faults as unsatisfactory home conditions, irresponsible parents and lack of parental supervision due to mothers working outside the home.

Education experts also accuse large overcrowded schools for student behavior problems. They believe many disciplinary headaches would be eased if more classrooms and teachers could be provided for the booming school-age population.

In addition to operating disciplinary systems, schools are trying to combat the delinquency problem by cooperating with community agencies concerned with youth development; providing special guidance programs and promoting pupil organizations which stress good citizenship.

SIGN OF THE TIMES — A Chinese worker rests calmly at Taipei, Formosa, as three giant Nike-Hercules missiles point skyward from their launchers.

HEARING SET

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The Conservancy Court has set Dec. 15 for a hearing on a petition requesting creating of a four-county Little Auglaize sub-district of the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District. The subdivision, petitioned by the commissioners of Paulding and Putnam Counties and various landowners in the district, would include parts of Van Wert, Mercer, Putnam and Paulding Counties.

The Indian chief of the Shawnees, "Blue Jacket" was really a white man who was captured and adopted by the Indians when 17 years old. "Blue Jacket" never returned to his own people and even fought against them in battle.
